WHERE CAN BE FOUND —THE— Best, Safest & Cheapest Life Insurance?
For Impartial Trustworthy Answer, ask not self Interested Agents, but the Insured Themselves, one of whom,
BISHOP WM. STEPHENS PERRY, of Iowa, thus testifies
To the poor, Life Insurance is a necessity, while to the rich it is a safeguard against possible contingencies, and furnishes ready money while the estate is being settled Having always been a firm believer in Life Insurance, and being insured in several of the leading companies, I have given the subject considerable investigation, and I am convinced that the mutual companies, in which there are no stockholders to share profits, are unquestionably the best. My confidence in the Northwestern Mutual Life, of Milwaukee, is shown by the fact that I carry in it the full limit ($30,000) allowed by the company on a single life. It is apparent to any one who will stop to consider, that the location of this company gives it advantages possessed by no other. Its wise and conservative management, in not seeking business in foreign countries and in the Gulf states, is in agreeable contrast to the practices of some of the leading eastern companies, and cannot be too strongly commended. I consider the Northwestern incomparably the safest, best and cheapest institution of the kind in the country, and I am confident that I speak advisedly"
The BEST POLICY ever offered is the Northwestern's "Semi Tontine Return Premium" policy, giving practically Endowment Insurance at low cost and a return of all premiums paid besides the amount of the policy, in case of death during the semi tontine term

Seemingly Eradicated

With repeated and powerful doses of quinine, chills and fever, in some one of its various forms, springs into active existence again, often without the slightest apparent provocation To extinguish the smoldering embers of this obstinate and recondite malady, no less than to subdue it when it rages fiercely in the system, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is all sufficient. When every resource of the pharmacopoeia has been exhausted against it in vain, the Bitters conquer it will remove every lingering vestige of it Nay more the Bitters will protect those brought within the influence of the atmospheric poison that begets malarial disease, from its attacks Disorders of the stomach liver and bowels are among the complaints to be apprehended from the use of miasma-tainted water These are both cured and prevented by the Bitters Rheumatism constipation and renal complaints yield to its action.

Montana Regent Defeats Lucy B. at Louisville.

CORRIGAN OPPOSED TO GEORGE.

Discovery of the Original Manuscript of "Home Sweet Home"—Blaine will Probably not go to Europe this Summer.

SPORTING NOTES.

MONTANA REGENT DEFEATS LUCKY B AT LOUISVILLE.

LOUISVILLE, May 16—The week's racing on the Louisville Jockey Club course opened to-day with one of the largest crowds in attendance that has been present. Col. Clark, Col. Faulkner and Capt. Williams occupied the judges' stand. The track was fast and dry, and the time, on the whole, was good. The Louisville cup, two and one-quarter miles, was the event of the day, and proved a pretty race Lucky B, winner of the cup for the last two years, was again a competitor. This time he had to force the famous Montana Regent, who sold favorite The other starter, Solid Silver, was also Baldwin's entry. The latter set the pace and held the lead until he wearied, when Lucky B failed to take it up, allowing Regent to win by three-fourths of a length. Murphy, who rode Lucky B, claimed a foul, but it was not allowed Between the three-quarter and eighth poles, Regent took the inside, running in front of Lucky B, but not in a way interfering with his stride. At the finish Murphy was whipping Lucky B hard, while Montana Regent was not touched. The finish elicited a great deal of cheering, Montana Regent being very popular. Baldwin is said to be very angry at the result, and to-night challenged Morrissey to run Regent against Lucky B. or Volante for the cup, distance two and one-fourth miles, for any amount between $5000 and $50,000.

Mile heats—First heat—Billy Gilmore won, Brookful second, Ofallon third, time, 1 41½; second heat—Billy Gilmore won, Brookful second, time, 1 41½.

THE GREAT RACE

Second race, the Louisville cup, two and a quarter miles, sweepstakes, for all ages, $1000 added, of which $200 went to second, $100 to third, ten entries The only starters were Lucky B., (Murphy,) 114, Solid Silver, (West,) 115, Montana Regent, (Blaylock,) 108 Montana Regent was favorite, with post odds of 7 to 10 The odds against Lucky B. were 6 to 5, and 10 to 1 against Solid Silver, his stable companion. They got off without delay to a good start, Solid Silver first, bent upon setting the pace; Regent second, and Lucky B. last. Passing the stand, Solid Silver was three lengths in the lead, the two latter running easy. Up the backstretch, Solid Silver increased his lead to ten or twelve lengths, Regent holding about three or four lengths in front of Lucky B These positions were not materially changed until the half mile post was reached the second time, when Solid Silver began to weary his rapid gait. Around the turn they bunched, and at the three-quarter pole Montana Regent was slightly in the lead, holding on down the stretch without any trouble Between the sixteenth and eighteenth poles, Murphy began whipping Lucky B, but it was without avail, for the big chestnut colt was running comparatively easy, and passed under the wire winner by three-quarters of a length, Blaylock pulling him gently and looking back at Murphy. Time, 4:01. Montana Regent could have won by four or five lengths, if his rider had so desired. Murphy claimed a foul at the sixteenth pole, but the claim was baseless, and the judges decided so without much delay. Solid Silver was out of the race at the three-quarters.

Mr. Morrissey was seen to-night by a reporter, and stated that he was willing to match Montana Regent against either Volante or Lucky B, for any amount that Mr. Baldwin desired He was feeling very happy, and said he had cleared $15,000 on the Regent in the Louisville cup

One and one-eighth miles—Jim Nave won, Aristocrat, second, Brilliant, third, time 1 59.

One and one-quarter miles—Elgin, first, Libretto, second, St. Valentine, third, time 2 11½

Four furlongs, for two year olds—Crawford won, Outsteps, second, Barrister, third; time 1 04

One and three-quarters miles Rio Grande won, Effie Hardy, second Revoke, third, time 1.15.

ARCHBISHOP CORRIGAN.

He Openly Declares the Free Land Theories of Henry George Opposed to the Catholic Church.

NEW YORK, May 16.—Archbishop Corrigan made his canonical visitation to the church of the Sacred Heart this morning. Low mass was celebrated, at the conclusion of which the archbishop spoke on the popular errors prevalent at the present time

First there was the idea that private ownership of land was unjust. This idea the archbishop characterized as a fallacy against both philosophy and common sense, and as against the teachings of the Catholic church.

Those who claimed that land, like sunshine and air, was a free gift of God, and equally the property of all, overlooked the great difference that sun and air cannot become private property, as can land. He declared that every man had a right to acquire by honest means as much property as he could and cited the Indians as an example of the disastrous result of a "free land policy." The archbishop also said the idea was in direct opposition to a decree of the pope, and that those who favored it knew that they were infringing on the ordinances of God.

The second error which the archbishop wished to combat was that the pope had a right to command and be obeyed only in matters of faith and morals, and when speaking as infallible. This idea had been decreed false by the vatican council, who had ordered that "if any one should say that the pope had a right to command in the matter of faith and morals but not in discipline let him be Anathema" The pope, however, does not interfere in matters of politics unless governments interfere in matters of conscience, and he has warned all bishops and archbishops that they must be obedient to the government under which they are

"HOME, SWEET HOME."

The Original Manuscript Discovered at Athens Georgia.

ATHENS, Ga., May 16—Yesterday the original manuscript of "Home, Sweet Home" was found which it is said was buried in the grave with Miss May Harden, the Georgia girl whose face was idolized by John Howard Payne. When, over half a century ago, Payne came home to this state to witness the signing of the treaty with the Cherokees, he met one of the commissioners, Gen Harden, of Savannah, who was living at Athens Harden invited the young man home with him, and there he first met Miss May Harden, of whom he became deeply enamored He corresponded regularly with her afterward, sending her, among other things, the original copy of "Home, Sweet Home." Mary rejected his offer of marriage, it is believed because of her father's objection but, however, withdrew from society and remained true to Payne's memory. The war swept away Harden's property, much of which was confiscated, and soon afterward he died. Mary obtained employment as translator in the French legation, and earned money with which to fight a claim for the return of her father's property. In this she succeeded to the extent of securing $50,000, which she invested, and then returned to the old homestead, where she for fifteen years lived the life of a recluse

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

A BRIEF MARKET REVIEW.

NEW YORK, May 16—The local money market ruled easy all last week at 4@5 per cent., but almost every day there were exceptional loans of small amounts as high as 6@7 per cent, and to fully equal amounts as low as 4 per cent Foreign exchange closed barely steady upon a basis of $4 85½@4 87 respectively for long and short sterling

Wheat closed firm as follows May 86¾c., June 96⅛c, July 95⅜c, August 93⅜, September 93c, December 95⅞c.

The tone of the Boston market for domestic wools continued dull. Prices remain unchanged and steady, with a tendency in favor of buyers In view of higher prices in the interior, dealers are not exerting any pressure to sell. Among the sales were 227,500 pounds of Washington territory at 18@25c, and 85,000 pounds of Oregon at 17@25c.

Columbia river salmon is held steadily at $1 62½ to $1 65 for spot goods Oregon salmon sells for 25 to 30c. per pound

BLAINE WILL NOT GO TO EUROPE.

BOSTON, May 16—An Augusta dispatch to the Globe says Blaine, Governor Bodwell and Geo. Manney, with a part of Blaine's lieutenants, have been at Bar harbor the last few days making preparations for the summer, in spite of the statement that Blaine intends to sail for Europe on June 6 for a several months absence It is generally understood that he has no such intention A conference of republican leaders has been called to assemble at Bar harbor this summer, when the party pulse will be felt. Before he closes his cottage he expects to know whether it is possible to get the nomination for 1888 In case his strength in the presidential line fails him, it is fully believed that he will conclude to go back to the senate There is no doubt that he can have the place Hale, Frye or Reed would be sacrificed without a thought, if by so doing the desires of the "Plumed Knight" would be advanced.

THE STANDARD COMPANY TO HAVE OPPOSITION.

TOLEDO, Ohio, May 16—A plan is on foot at Lima, it is declared, to organize an oil exchange, to oppose the Standard company Plans have not yet been perfected, but many of the leading oil men in the Lima fields are interested. All are angry at the last cut of oil and the lowering of the price to 27½ cents The leaders claim that under the interstate commerce law they could obtain equal rates with the Standard, and that they could compete with the Standard in the sale of oil in large cities of the North and West. They claim that oil is worth a dollar a barrel for fuel, and that Standard has cleared $20,000,000 on oil already purchased in Ohio fields. All producers will be made stockholders in the exchange, and, if necessary, pipe lines will be built and refineries erected, probably at Toledo.

TERRIBLE FIGHT WITH A MANIAC.

NEW ORLEANS, May 16—Saturday night Raymond Butsch, overseer at the Woodlawn plantation, Plaquemines parish, forty miles below this city, was shot through both legs by an insane man named Ed Williams. Butsch's legs were badly lacerated. This morning the sheriff of Plaquemines parish, accompanied by George Osmond, editor of the Plaquemines Protector, started out to arrest the maniac. When they approached Williams he opened fire upon them, shooting Osmond through the neck, and it is thought fatally injuring him. The sheriff then pursued the maniac, who took refuge in his house. The house was then set on fire, in order to dislodge Williams, and when he came out to get water he was shot dead by the sheriff.

A K OF L ROW.

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—The general executive board of the Knights of Labor, at a meeting to-night, suspended District Assembly No. 126 from the order, on the ground of insubordination. The district assembly is a national one, and includes in its membership 10,000 people who are engaged in the carpet weaving trade in one form or another There has been for over a year past considerable trouble between the district and general executive board, and one of the most notable incidents of the struggle was the refusal to admit John Morrison, master workman of District Assembly 126, to the convention recently held at Richmond.

THE DENVER, SOUTH PARK & PACIFIC.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The Tribune to-morrow will say An adjourned meeting of the first mortgage bond holders of the Denver, South Park & Pacific railroad was held at the office of the Farmer's Loan and Trust Company yesterday. The report of the committee is approved, and foreclosure proceedings will be begun immediately to recover possession of the property from the Union Pacific, which owns the stock and operates the road of the company. Default in payment of interest on the first mortgage bonds was made on the first of the month.

CALLAWAY WILL RESIGN.

CHICAGO, May 16—The Times says The statement is made that the resignation of S R. Callaway, vice-president and general manager of the Union Pacific, has been in the hands of President Adams for the past two weeks, and that it will take effect on May 31. The differences between the two officials have been a matter of public notoriety for some time past, and the resignation would be but a natural consequence to Mr. Potter's appointment, although Mr Callaway has a contract with the Union Pacific which does not expire for two years yet.

A PROTEST AGAINST COERCION.

LOWELL, Mass., May 16—At a large mass meeting here to-night resolutions were adopted vigorously protesting against the passage of the coercion bill by the British parliament, sympathizing with the Irish people and praising the labors of Parnell and Gladstone. Speeches were made by Gen. Butler, Lieut.-Gov. Brackett and others. Gen. Butler said Irishmen had helped fight our battles, and that we ought to pay the debt, by helping Ireland in case she got into war with England.

DEATH WARRANT FORWARDED

SANTA FE, N. M., May 16—To-day Gov. Ross forwarded the death warrant of P. J. O'Donnell, who will be executed at Silver City next Friday. Jasper Thompson will be hung at Socorro on the same day. This will finish the quartette of murderers about which there has been so much public discussion. There are three more men in jail charged with murder, one in Bernalillo and one in Sierra county, who will very likely hang if the public version of their crimes prove to be correct.

ORDER OF RAILWAY CONDUCTORS.

NEW ORLEANS, May 16—The convention of the order of railway conductors adjourned to-night. Early to-day the order went into executive session, so that the greater part of the business transacted was necessarily of a private nature. Officers were elected and installed for the ensuing term. C. S. Wheaton of New York was made Grand Chief Conductor.

HAYES OFFERED A PRESIDENCY.

COLUMBUS, May 16—Ex-President Hayes has been offered the presidency of the Ohio State university and a strong effort is being made to get him to accept. The trustees have offered to elect a vice-president to perform the routine duties of president. It is reported that the ex-president is inclined to accept.

THE OIL CONSPIRACY CASE.

THE INTERSTATE LAW.

Prescott, Arizona, Protests Against Suspension of Section Four.

WASHINGTON, May 16. The interstate commerce commission has received from the committee on railroads and transportation of the Prescott, Arizona, board of trade a protest against suspension of section 4, and against railroads being allowed to charge more to any part of the interior between the Mississippi river, the Missouri river and the Pacific coast than they do to the coast. The protest says 'We, here in the interior, have been unmercifully treated and discriminated against for the last six years by railroads. For instance, we have been charged from St. Louis to Prescott from $500 to $1300 per car, while the same kind of goods would go to San Francisco for from $125 to $250 per car. The distance from St. Louis to San Francisco, via the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, and the Atlantic & Pacific railroad, is about 2600 miles From St. Louis to Prescott is about 1700 miles"

A COMPLAINT FROM CANADA.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The department of state has received and transmitted to the interstate commerce commission, for its information, a letter from U S. Consul Twitchell, at Kingston, Canada, upon the subject of the interstate commerce law, and its effect upon our trade with Canada. The consul says

"Canada's high protective tariff, in which there is no prospect of a reduction, has made me apprehensive from the first of the effect of increased railroad rates on imports from the United States to this section of Canada. Since the fourth of April, rates, as shown by freight bills here paid, have been increased from 25 to 100 per cent, with the charge on Canadian roads. After waiting thirty days for effects, I have made a partial canvass of importers of the city of Kingston, with the following result Coal dealers are preparing to bring from Nova Scotia, coal for all purposes where Nova Scotia coal can be used. Two factories which have always used American coal have put in their orders for Nova Scotia coal. In hardware and pressed tinware I find that orders have been changed from American to Canadian houses on account of freight. In groceries there is the same complaint products of countries outside of the United States are now expected to come by way of British Columbia and Halifax. An unpleasant feature in connection with my canvass has been a general expression to find how and where they may make purchases without coming in contact with American roads. It seems to me unnecessary to prophesy what will be the effect upon American manufacturers, wholesale dealers and railroads by these general inquiries."

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS.

THE IMMIGRATION QUESTION.

CHICAGO, May 16.—A special from Washington says The state department is continuing its search for information, through its consuls, concerning immigration, with a view to laying the subject before congress when it convenes this winter and asking immediate action. An immense pile of reports has been received from all parts of the world. Officers at the department say reports show that labor troubles, oppressive laws and general dissatisfaction afford grounds for the people leaving their native lands for this country. It is not believed that, from the character of the people coming here, they are desirable as inhabitants, and the consuls suggest in most instances that the inflow be stopped. They state further that most of the countries yielding up inhabitants to this country would be glad if we would forbid immigration for a period of say five years, when an effort will be made to keep the population at home It is generally believed that a bill will be passed in the coming session to prevent immigration from many if not all countries.

THE SHOOTING OF LIEUT. SCHWENK.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—A telegram received at the navy department two weeks ago stated that Lieut. M. K. Schwenk had accidentally shot himself while on duty as officer of the watch on the Alert. Schwenk stopped to pick up a revolver, which proved to have been tied in such a manner that when lifted a bowline slipped over the trigger, causing its discharge Commander Gratan reports that there can be no doubt it was a plan to assassinate some officer of the vessel, and that he has ordered a searching investigation Lieut. Schwenk was seriously wounded in his left wrist, and blood poisoning is feared.

GERONIMO AND HIS FELLOW CAPTIVES

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Lieut.-Gen Sheridan has received the following report of an examination made by the inspector-general of the division of the Atlantic, as to the condition of Geronimo and his fellow captives at Fort Pickens, Fla. "There is a guard over these Indian prisoners. The latter have been docile and obedient, and seem ready to do with cheerfulness whatever is required of them. The extreme cleanliness maintained in the casemates which they occupy was a revelation to me, and as to the fort, I doubt if it has ever been so well and so thoroughly policed as now. Their labor can undoubtedly be advantageously used at this post in divers ways, particularly in garden culture."

THE CATHOLIC UNIVERSITY.

A Portion of the Plans Approved by the Pope

NEW YORK, May 16—The Times says The pope, in a brief to Cardinal Gibbons, has approved some of the plans for the proposed Catholic National university. He coincides with the American bishops in believing that the administration of the university should remain forever in the hands of prelates. The question of location, however, he leaves open and desires the opinion of every bishop in the country, as well as of those on the commission, before anything is fixed. The commission has made several other commendations. It suggests that professorships of sacred sciences be open both to secular and regular priests, even if foreigners. To preserve discipline, as well as to impart a profound scientific and theological training, Sulpitian priests are considered most fit for the minute government of the institution. To prevent distraction of attention from this plan, and the converting of contributions to other channels, it is advised that until the next plenary council, the setting up of any similar institution be not allowed

The rector of the university must be able to devote his time to it and yet be of episcopal dignity. The commission therefore urge that the Right Rev. John J. Keane, of Richmond, be relieved from the care and custody of his diocese and made rector of the university. Finally it is declared that there is no intention to weaken the American college at Rome, but the bishops, on the contrary, will take care that a number of choice subjects are always sent to be trained at the fountain head of Christianity.

The members of the commission are Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, Archbishop Williams, of Boston, Archbishop Corrigan, Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia Bishop Spaulding, of Peoria; Bishop Oakland, of St. Paul, Bishop Keane, of Richmond, Bishop Marty, of Dakota, Monsignor Farley, of this city, Rev John Foley, of Baltimore, Revs H L Chappell and S. Lee, of Washington and Michael Jennings and Thomas E. Waggaman, laymen

THE TRANSCONTINENTAL LINES.

An Adjourned Meeting Held at Chicago Results in Nothing

CHICAGO, May 16—The adjourned meeting of transcontinental railway officials held here to-day was barren of results The purpose was to continue last week's effort toward the formation of a combination to prevent undue competition. Several roads were not represented. Another session will be held to-morrow. Chicago roads have agreed among themselves to take the proportion of 15 per cent. of whatever through rate the transcontinental lines make, in order to meet the competition of the Canadian Pacific.

ACCIDENTS.

A YOUTH BLOWN TO PIECES.

DENVER, May 16—Leadville special to the News The most shocking accident that has been reported from the Midland tunnel for months occurred near the west portal, on Saturday last, in which James Mann, a boy 14 years of age, was literally blown to pieces through an explosion of giant powder. On the occasion of the accident he was dispatched to the magazine for a box of giant powder, which was to be used by the drill forces, and procuring it he started to return, when the men heard an explosion mingled with a shriek, and rushing out found the dismembered form of the youth lying about the approach to the tunnel. The sight was a sickening one, flesh and bones were scattered in every direction, while there was scarcely enough left intact to identify the youth. It is probable that having shouldered the box of powder the boy started for the tunnel, and stumbling caused the jar to explode the giant.

The Vitriol Thrower's Victim Tells His Story.

ARRIVAL OF SARA BERNHARDT.

A "Glorious Old Drunk" Ends in Death—More Particulars of the Seattle Tragedy—San Francisco Notes.

THE VITRIOL VICTIM.

He Tells his Story of the Crime and Thinks the Woman was Jealous.

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—The Evening Express published to-day the only interview yet had with C. R. Petrie, who was so frightfully burned by vitriol thrown by Mrs. Roselle on the 11th. In the course of the interview he said:

"Mrs. Roselle invited me into her room by saying, 'Come in after you finish dressing; I want to talk to you.' I said, 'All right.' I stepped into her room. As she backed from the door her cheeks were red. She had been sleeping on the bed, I should judge. She put her mouth up and I kissed her. She was fully dressed. She said, 'get away from the trunk so I can shut the door.' I stood so she could not shut the door. I said, 'What do you want to shut the door for?' She said, 'They don't know you're in the house.' She walked over toward the stand. She stood at the right and to the front of a small, low rocking chair, which stood close to the stand. She said, 'Sit down; I will sit in your lap if you do so.' I walked over and sat down in the rocking chair. She touched me gently on the shoulder with her left hand as I sat down. After I moved the chair out and straightened up my head her right hand was over my head, and I thought she was going to put her arms around my neck. With her hand in that position she poured the stuff down over my forehead, and it rolled over my nose and chin. As I turned some of it ran out on my eyebrows over my left eye and down the left side of my face. It made a hissing noise like beefsteak frying. It burned horribly in an instant and made me almost crazy. Quicker than I can tell she threw another cupful of liquid square in my face. I think the last was water. I was wild and blinded with pain and ran to the door and got down stairs."

Petrie said they had been criminally intimate for some time, and he intended to cut away from her. Petrie thinks this made her jealous.

THE THEATERS.

Arrival of Sarah Bernhardt, and Her Appearance at the Baldwin.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—The California theater will remain closed until the 4th of July. The Grand Opera house and the Standard theater are likewise taking a rest.

The National Opera company will play in Los Angeles a portion of this week.

MRS. D. P. BOWERS is on her way to San Francisco. There was a time when the coming of Mrs. Bowers was an event almost equal to that of Sarah Bernhardt.

C. H. Gillette, author of "Held by the Enemy," which will be given at the Baldwin after the Bernhardt engagement, has arrived in town, and is superintending the production of that play.

Fred Warde will play in Sacramento a portion of this week, and in Oakland next week.

Last week society was somewhat worried about the propriety of receiving Sarah Bernhardt. Now that Sarah is on the ground the chief worry is whom will Sarah receive.

"A Rag Baby" at the Bush-street theater will be continued for another week.

This evening Sarah Bernhardt and party visited the Chinese theater on Jackson street, where they occupied a box, subsequently visiting the stage and dressing rooms during the progress of the play. They afterward visited an opium "joint" and a Chinese restaurant. The actress was at once delighted and shocked at some of the sights witnessed. She has with her several pets, of which one is a young wildcat, which she secured in Ecuador and which has threatening eyes and is said to be growing ferocious. It is named Tigrette by Bernhardt.

At her first appearance here to-night the Baldwin theater was crowded, many persons having to stand. The audience was not only appreciative but enthusiastic. She appeared in "Fedora." It was noticeable that the larger portion of the audience consisted of Jews and those in whose veins run a trace of French blood. As is generally known, Bernhardt speaks entirely in French.

FROM TACOMA.

A "Glorious Old Drunk" that Ended in Death—Local News.

TACOMA, May 16.—Patrick Fitzpatrick, aged 60 years, a laborer employed in digging ditches, etc., living eighteen miles south of this city, received $34 from a farmer last Wednesday for work performed. He told the neighbors he was going on a "glorious old drunk." He purchased five gallons of whisky here and went back, taking up quarters near a spring on the Kandle farm, near by. Saturday evening he was found dead, with an empty demijohn by his side. The coroner's verdict was that death was caused by whisky and exposure. He was buried in the potter's field.

Three seamen, having shipped on the bark Murray at Port Halock for San Francisco at $35 per month, refused to go unless paid $40 for the run, after the agent of the Seamen's Union had informed them that they must do so. At the same time the Swedish bark Aurora, bound for Melbourne, is shipping a crew at Port Townsend for $25.

Sheriff Sonback of Sioux Falls, Dakota, having extradited T. G. Olsen for robbing a farmer at Brandon, in that territory, returns to-morrow morning with his prisoner.

FROM SEATTLE.

Additional Particulars About the Ward Tragedy—A Giant Powder Mystery.

SEATTLE, W. T., May 16.—The coroner's jury in the case of Elmer Ward brought in the following verdict Saturday evening:

"We, the undersigned coroner's jury, duly empaneled in the case of Elmer Ward, now lying dead before us, do find that the same Elmer Ward came to his death by a razor wound in his throat, inflicted by his own hand."

Signed: J. W. George, S. F. Clough, J. N. Van Brocklin, S. L. Jewett, W. H. Pinkney, G. A. Tyler.

In the evidence given to the jury there was nothing that would indicate that Mr. and Mrs. Ward lived unhappily together. He came home Friday from the logging camp where he had been at work, and not finding Mrs. Ward home had come down town. He was very much opposed to her working, and had so expressed himself, but the neighbors all unite in saying he was kind to her. She seemed to think a great deal of him and her home, and was always willing and anxious to assist him in every way possible. She is a quiet, unassuming little woman, and was liked and respected by all who knew her.

It is stated by men who have worked with Ward and knew him well that he had an ungovernable temper, and would get raving mad at the least thing that crossed him. Probably it was in one of these fits of anger that he attempted to murder his wife and then took his own life.

As near as can be learned Mrs. Ward got ready to retire and sat down on the edge of the bed, when Ward came to her and plunged a knife into her throat. She grabbed his hands and exclaimed: "Oh, Elmer, you have killed me." He answered, "Yes, I guess I have." She fell on the floor at the foot of the bed, and from there crawled and staggered into the kitchen. As she went into the other room she partly turned her head, and thinks she saw him when he drew the razor across his own throat. The poor woman groped around the kitchen to find the door leading outside which accounts for the blood smeared around.

MRS. WARD'S CONDITION.

Mrs. Ward was some better yesterday morning, but so many visited her yesterday that fever was brought on by excitement. She was not so well last evening, but is resting easy this morning.

An examination of the pantaloon pockets of Elmer Ward was made by the coroner in the presence of the jury. One nickel, one 45-60 calibre cartridge, a lead pencil and a little turquoise shell handled penknife were found therein.

All day yesterday large numbers of people visited the neighborhood of the residence in South Seattle, inspired by curiosity to view the scene of the awful tragedy. The house is in the care of the coroner, and is kept locked up.

Mr. A. C. Turner, a neighbor and intimate friend of Ward's, is chosen by Mrs. Ward to act as administrator of her affairs, and was to have been appointed as such by Judge Rochester today, but the appointment has not been made yet. It is learned this evening that Mrs. Ward is much better and in a fair way to recover from the effects of the attempt on her life.

A GIANT POWDER MYSTERY.

Yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, when the Puget Sound & Shore Line train was nearing the city, and at the junction of that road and the standard gauge of the South Seattle, the engine and four cars passed over a number of sticks of giant powder which had been placed on the rails, exploding them and kicking up quite a dust. The noise made by the explosion sounded as though several guns had been shot off in rapid succession. Fortunately, no damage was done and the train pulled into the city. Superintendent Milner was notified, and, accompanied by Mr. Martin, visited the place and found a number of sticks of explosive scattered about. Some had been put on the rails both of the Puget Sound and Shore line and the standard gauge. On the beach they found a large box containing about sixty sticks of the dangerous stuff. The box looked as though it had been in water. On some of the timbers they found a number of sticks of powder, where they had apparently been placed to dry. Mr. Martin this morning said he thought it was the work of some children, who, in playing around there, had come across the box on the beach, and probably thought they would have some fun with the railroad men, not realizing the danger of their fun. There was enough in the box to have blown the train into fragments, had it been properly placed. If not done with the intent above mentioned, it is hard to fathom the motive for a deliberate attempt to wreck a train at that point.

THE FESTIVE BURGLAR.

Burglaries and attempted burglarious entrances into private dwellings all over the city have become so frequent as to excite but passing comment. For six months, with the exception of perhaps about three weeks in January last, these thieves and invaders of private residences have pursued their way without fear of detection—certainly without being discovered and arrested. People are beginning seriously to wonder what the chief of police and the officers are about. Plenty of drunks are pulled in, plenty of prostitutes and gamblers fined, but burglary goes on almost nightly. Saturday night a couple more of these visitations occurred. About 11 P. M. Mr. Blackwell, who, with Messrs. Kimball and Post, lives between Columbia and Cherry, on Eighth street, noticed Mr. Post's dog barking, running down to some bushes and growling, in the ravine close by. The dog went into the bushes and came out howling, as though he had been struck or kicked. Afterwards all was quiet. As it was quite dark Mr. B. did not investigate the incident.

At 1:15 A. M. some persons attempted to enter the dwelling of Mr. Frank Kimball. There were no men in the house, and Mr. K. was absent from the city. Hearing a noise, Mrs. K. arose, opened the window and looked out. Seeing no one, she let it down sharply and retired.

Directly after the occurrence at Mrs. Kimball's, the residence of H. A. Hollenbeck, teacher in the Sixth street school, Cherry and Tenth streets, was visited. The attempt to enter was made upon the kitchen window, over the window there being a heavy shade. Mr. Hollenbeck heard the noise of cutting at the pane, and stole softly into the kitchen with a loaded rifle. He heard voices, and without waiting to raise the curtain fired through it. Instantly all was still, and he thought he had got one of the thieves. In a couple of minutes angry voices and profanity were heard at a little distance. Presently a volley of rocks was fired against the kitchen, breaking the lights of glass and sash. Mr. H. returned the fire with his rifle, and the thieves disappeared. There were evidently two or more engaged in this last attempt.

NOTES.

Charles Lee, an employe of the mills at Blakely, was brought over on the Michigan this morning with a broken leg, and taken to Providence hospital. Mr. Lee was pushing a car load of lumber, when one of the wheels broke through the wharf, overturning the load. One of the timbers fell upon his left leg below the knee, breaking it. Dr. Smart was called to attend him, and set the limb. Mr. Lee will be laid up for a couple of months.

The fund for the relief of the sufferers at Nanaimo is growing rapidly, and has now reached the sum of $3192, and the proceeds of the Turn-Verein entertainment given Saturday night, about $400, will swell the amount to $3600.

FROM SALEM.

The Session Laws Given to the Binder—Local Notes.

SALEM, May 16.—The state printer finished printing the session laws to-day, five days before the expiration of the time allowed by law, and they were delivered to the binder this afternoon. The laws make a volume of 450 pages, and the typographical work is excellent throughout. From 1859 until 1878 the state printer was required to bind the laws within ninety days after adjournment of the legislature, but since 1878 the binding has been under the control of the secretary of state, no time being prescribed within which it should be completed. To meet a general wish that the laws shall be ready for distribution by the time when they take effect, all other state work has been laid aside at the bindery, and the binding of the laws has already begun. Secretary McBride says he expects to deliver a copy to every circuit and county court by May 21st, and will distribute the remaining copies every few days, as fast as they are bound. The public officers will be supplied before any copies will be sold to private persons. The senate journal index will be printed this week, and the printing of the house journal will then be begun.

Brig.-Gen. Siglin has announced that he will appoint the following officers on his staff: Assistant adjutant-general, with rank of captain, Thos. G. Owen of Marshfield; quartermaster-general, with rank of captain, L. H. Montanye of Albany; aides-de-camp, with rank of first lieutenant, Isaac A. Manning of Salem, and Palmer Wheat of Portland. Capt. Owen is an old newspaper man, an ex-Confederate soldier and ex-sheriff of Coos county. Capt. Montanye is ex-member of the legislature of 1884 from Linn, and with Siglin was one of the democratic contingent of John H. Mitchell. Lieut. Manning is well-known as an attache of the Statesman staff, and has been lieutenant in Company B, Salem. Palmer Wheat is a member of crack Company G, Portland. The commissions will soon be signed by the governor.

The grand coyote hunt which took place in the Mission bottom for four days ending Sunday, resulted in the slaughter of a large number of coyotes, and the accidental killing by a rifle shot of a fine Siberian bloodhound belonging to Lute Savage of Salem.

A trot between several ambitious young flyers belonging to prominent men of Salem has been arranged to take place Saturday at the fair grounds. The race is merely a test of speed.

Two lively runaways occurred to-day. One was a horse attached to a milk wagon, which scattered the lacteal fluid along State street and overturned the wagon. The second was a horse and dogcart belonging to a farmer, which ran into a brewery near the covered bridge and smashed the vehicle to pieces.

THE MEXICAN EARTHQUAKES.

A Courier Brings a Dispatch from the Investigating Commission.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—The Call's Hermosillo, Mexico, special to-night says: A courier sent by the commission now examining into the recent seismic disturbances in the Sierra Madre mountains arrived at Ures to-day, and is bearer of the following dispatch to Governor Torres:

"In the pueblo of Babispe thirty-seven persons were killed and nineteen injured. In Oputo nine were killed. Both pueblos were destroyed. The inhabitants of Babispe, Baceracs, Oputo and Guarabas are living in fields, under trees and in dugouts. There have been repeated successions of shocks, although lighter than that of the disaster. Panic exists everywhere, and a number of women have died from fright. A wide extent of territory is seamed with crevices and immense chasms. The earth has sunk in many places and is flooded with water, making swamps where water never existed before. In many mountains are to be seen what appear to be eruptions, and continuous smoke indicates volcanic action, but these have not yet been explored, owing to continuous tremors and great chasms, making approach thereto at the present time most difficult and dangerous."

CALIFORNIA.

AN ALASKA VESSEL IN TROUBLE.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—The schooner Undaunted arrived from Kodiak, Alaska, Saturday evening with a cargo of spruce poles. These poles, it is claimed, were obtained from timber lands belonging the United States government, and without any permit from the general land office at Washington. Some time ago two vessels loaded with lumber were seized by the United States authorities here, under the plea that they had obtained their cargoes in the territory of Alaska from lands which were not thrown open for selection. There are no laws governing selections in Alaska, as the general land laws of the United States have not been extended to the territory by congress, and any person taking timber off these lands is liable to imprisonment and fine. Yesterday morning a deputy surveyor of this port placed a customs officer in charge of the schooner and her cargo. He reported his action to Collector Hager, who referred the matter to the U. S. district attorney for his opinion. Although the question of seizing the timber and prosecuting persons who cut it is not within the province of the customs department, it was the idea of protecting the interests of the government that prompted Fogarty to act. The opinion of customs officers here is that the deputy collector at Kodiak, Ivan Petroff, had no right to grant a clearance to the Undaunted, knowing that she had this lot of poles on board.

TRYING TO TURN THE TABLES.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—Some one here is attempting to turn the tables. George H. Perrine, one of the men indicted by the U. S. grand jury for having made fraudulent surveys of government land has commenced an action in the U. S. circuit court against the government. He alleges that on December 24, 1882, he entered into a contract with Surveyor-General Brown to survey certain lands. Perrine states that the work was properly done, as was certified to by Surveyor-General Brown on November 13, 1885. The amount claimed for performing this work is $7175 32. Later on other contracts were taken, which would raise this sum by $1237 57, and it is for the combined amount of $8412 89 that this action is brought. Perrine further alleges that the surveys made by him were approved by Land Commissioner W. A. J. Sparks, but that the money is illegally withheld through the instrumentality of C. F. Conrade, who has had him indicted falsely for perjury and conspiracy.

TALK BY A PORTLAND MINISTER.

At the regular Monday evening meeting of Congregational ministers, held to-night, the proceedings consisted mainly of talks by ministers who have been in attendance at the Y. M. C. A. convention. Rev. Mr. Clapp, of Portland, said he had greatly enjoyed the meetings and counted it a great privilege to have met so many of his ministerial brethren of this and other cities. They had felt rather isolated at Portland, but now that the railroad was soon to be extended through to San Francisco that feeling would no longer exist, and they would rejoice to avail themselves of increased facilities for personal communication and exchange of pulpits with their highly esteemed brethren on the Pacific coast. The population of Portland was increasing rapidly, and the churches there were striving to keep pace in the prosecution of religious and city missionary work.

PERSONAL NOTES.

The Misses Savier, who have been visiting at the Ainsworth residence in Oakland, will return to Portland on the 28th of this month.

Most of the delegates from Oregon and Washington territory to the Y. M. C. A. convention went on a special excursion to Santa Cruz and Monterey to-day. Among those who remained in the city was delegate Dobbins of Portland. To-morrow afternoon the annual conference of the general secretaries of the association of the United States and Canada will begin at the First Congregational church in Oakland and will continue four days.

Among Oregon people who registered at the principal hotels to-day are Rev. E. Snikes and wife, Miss Cora Allen, Mrs. C. B. Lord, Mrs. J. W. Overbaugh, John Mooney and S. L. Pollock.

THE Y. M. C. A. EXCURSION.

MONTEREY, May 16.—The excursion of the Young Men's Christian Association, numbering about 600, including ladies, arrived here at noon to-day. They were met by carriages and driven around the Del Monte grounds, and then to Pacific grove, where a generous lunch had been prepared for them by the ladies of the grove at Monterey. Tables were set under the trees, and were decorated with a profusion of fine flowers. Some speeches were made after lunch, and the afternoon was spent in walking about the grounds. A number of the leading members of the association were present, and all expressed themselves as more than delighted with the grove and their reception.

LOST TWENTY THOUSAND.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—The National Opera Company, which left here yesterday, lost in this city something less than $20,000. They produced some half dozen of the finest operas, in the most admirable style. Their performances were not obnoxious to just criticism. They were largely attended from first to last, yet they lost money. They will not return without a guaranty of at least an equal amount to the one on which they insisted before they left New York last April. The cause of the loss is said to be the enormous expense attached to the long journey.

Booth, when here lately, took away about $60,000.

THE LIBEL SUIT.

The Fitch-De Young libel suit was resumed this morning. The entire day was consumed in argument by counsel for the prosecution. Counsel for the defense will speak to-morrow. There is no great public interest in this case, the damages claimed being light, only $5000. As alleged, the cause of libel arose about twelve years ago, and in the eyes of the public it has an appearance of staleness. There is much difference of opinion as to what the verdict of the jury will be. The fact that in this state, in civil cases, nine of the twelve members of a jury are sufficient to convict, gives many people cause to hold that the verdict will be for the plaintiff.

TROLLING FOR SALMON.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—The catch of salmon here has been very abundant during the past week, the retail price for whole fish on some days being as low as six cents per pound. The fish are taken at many places along the coast by trolling in salt water, and it has been a subject of remark that so far as known no salmon have been taken in that manner in San Francisco bay. Both spoons and small fish baits have been successful at Monterey and Humboldt bays—trolling from boats, with bait, at from four to six feet deep, and with a motion through the water of from two to three miles an hour.

STEAMER NOTES.

The old steamer Orizaba, so well known to Portlanders, is being rapidly dismantled. Her smokestack was taken out to-day, and now her machinery is being taken to pieces.

The United States ship Thetis sailed from Fortress Monroe on the 8th for Alaska. As her steaming capacity enables her to run about eight knots an hour, she will probably arrive in San Francisco about August next.

The steamer Willamette, plying on the Yaquina route, has been fitted with a new crank pin.

A NEW CHINESE SWINDLE.

Importers of coolies from the Celestial kingdom have lately put in practice a new scheme for defrauding government officials. It is now the practice to have a large batch of men taken from a ship, released on bail, and then have attorneys consent in court to their deportation. Decrepit or crippled Chinese are substituted before the return steamer sails. The cost of this little artifice is far less than to land a Chinaman, being only about $25, and it has practically the same effect.

MILLER'S WORK.

Joaquin Miller has in preparation for an early issue of the Overland Monthly an article entitled, "Our Emerald State," reference being to Oregon. He is also reading proofs of a new volume of poems, soon to be issued by his publishers, Roberts Bros. of Boston, the volume being styled, "Songs of the Mexican Seas." One of his late real estate ventures is the purchase of one hundred acres of land on the hilly slopes directly east of Oakland and neighboring thereto.

JUDGMENT AGAINST THE TUG TACOMA.

The ship John Rosenfeld, while on her way from Nanaimo to San Francisco with 3800 tons of coal on board, grounded on a reef near East point in February, 1886, while in tow of the tug Tacoma. The ship still remains where she struck. The owners of the ship brought suit against the owners of the tug and a few days ago judgment was rendered in their favor for $12,000 and costs, which will amount to $10,000 more.

THE NANAIMO FUND.

Additional subscriptions for the Nanaimo relief fund amount to $1,343 since Saturday night. The total amount contributed by this city to date is therefore $9535.

FISH AND SEALS.

At the meeting of the California state fish commission today, the question of exterminating seals, on the ground that they are depredating along the river fisheries, was again brought up for discussion. It was suggested that one dollar a head for each seal killed should be paid to fishermen. No definite action in the matter was taken.

MORE SUGAR FOR THE CANADIAN.

The Canadian Pacific has secured 8,000,000 pounds more sugar for transportation to the East. It is stated that the American Sugar Refinery is the shipper.

LEAKING.

The Bolivian bark Guillermo, lumber laden from Port Townsend for Callao, put into Honolulu April 21, leaking.

SHIPPING.

Arrived—Bark Baliumbie, Nanaimo; ship Oriental, Tacoma.

HEAVY FIRE AT FRESNO.

FRESNO, May 16.—A fire about 11 o'clock last night destroyed about $50,000 worth of property in Chinatown in this city, on the south side of Tulare street. The fire broke out in a dance house owned by Mollie Livingston. It was caused by upsetting a lamp in the room of one of the women. A high wind was blowing, and no water supply being at hand the flames spread to the adjoining buildings. In all, about thirty houses and contents were burned, including several Chinese stores and laundries. The insurance is very light. Sam Lee's brick store is the only building in the block that was saved.

TO RUN TO PORT MOODY.

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—Walter T. Maxwell will leave for Europe June 1, to purchase a steel steamer with a capacity of 1800 tons. The coal trade of this section has become so enormous that it cannot be handled with the present facilities. The new steamer will ply from Port Moody, B. C., to Southern California ports. Huge coal bunkers will be erected at San Pedro, Port Balloua and San Diego. After discharging coal here she will carry cargoes of fruit and other Southern California products to Port Moody, for shipment over the Canadian Pacific.

SIMMONS ARRAIGNED.

SALINAS, May 16.—E. T. M. Simmons, late manager of the Hotel del Monte, and now lying in the county jail at this place awaiting trial for burning that hotel, was this morning arraigned before the superior court, where he pleaded not guilty. The date of his trial was fixed for Monday, the 20th of June, and he was again remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

ARREST OF A SUPPOSED WIFE MURDERER.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, May 16.—Report comes from Los Alamos, Santa Barbara county, that a man answering the description of Springer, the Colton wife murderer, was arrested there this morning.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

NOTES FROM VICTORIA.

VICTORIA, May 16.—The Mexico's crew arrived and the vessel sailed to-night for San Francisco.

A Canadian Pacific conductor at Donald was playing poker with a gambler named McGinty, alias "Pedro Jack." The latter was discovered cheating and the conductor shot him fatally. The conductor escaped.

Father Nicolaye, missionary at Clayquot, writes of the discovery by Indians of trunks and papers of Capt. Douglas of the wrecked St. Stephen.

No further progress is reported from Nanaimo to-day. The miners held a meeting Sunday and discussed the employment of Chinese. They passed resolutions appointing a committee to forward the preventing of the employment of Chinese, who are considered a dangerous class in mines where fire damp is prevalent.

TREASURE UNEARTHED.

Twenty-Five Million Dollars Discovered by the Indian Authorities.

LONDON, May 16.—The financial secretary of India has advised the government of the discovery of an immense amount of treasure, estimated at over $25,000,000, which had been secreted in the Palace Civalics by the late maharajah. The treasure had been sunk in pits, under vaults, beneath the Zeenana. The secret was entrusted to a few confidential servants. The secretary was present when the treasure was unearthed. After removing the earth to a depth of six feet, the workmen found great flagstones. Underneath these several pits were filled to the brim with silver, chiefly freshly coined rupees. In each pit was a plate recording the amount of treasure, and the names of officials who assisted in secreting it. The Indian government has taken the hoard as a loan from the mahajarah. Native papers protest against this action. They say, had the mahajarah been an adult, instead of under a regency controlled by the government, he never would have invested his whole wealth in Indian securities. A question will be raised in parliament as to whether "investment" may not be another name for seizure.

CANADA.

A LETTER FROM LANSDOWNE.

TORONTO, Ont., May 16.—In his acknowledgement of the receipt of a letter from Mayor Howland, containing copies of the resolutions passed at Saturday's loyalist meeting, Lord Lansdowne, after expressing the great pleasure which the passage of the resolutions gave him, says: "It has been a source of the deepest regret to me that those who have sought, for political purposes, to stir up strife between me and tenants on a part of my Irish estates should have been for a time successful. I desire sincerely that differences which have thus arisen may not prove permanent, and that the kind relations, which until recently existed between these tenants and myself, may ere long be completely restored."

SORRY HE IS ELECTED.

MONTREAL, May 16.—To the Associated Press correspondent Mr. O'Brien said: "I am sorry to hear that I have been elected again to parliament; but I am inclined to think Lord Lansdowne is still more sorry. Under the circumstances I am thankful to my colleagues and countrymen."

Mr. O'Brien and party left for Toronto on the midnight train.

A LONG STRIKE ENDED.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 16.—The long strike at the Picton coal mines is reported ended. The Albion colliery men accepted the reduction of wages and the Acadia men signed an agreement repudiating any desire to dictate as to who shall be employed.

ENGLAND.

THE COMMONS AND THE COERCION BILL.

LONDON, May 16.—The proposal of Smith that the house of commons adjourn for the Whitsunday holidays from May 24 to June 6, leaves the house only four nights for debate on the coercion bill before adjournment. As all the other evenings will be occupied with estimates, it is doubtful whether the first clause of the coercion bill can be passed before adjournment.

FRANCE.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

PARIS, May 16.—Elections for members of the municipal council have been completed. The revolutionists will have ten seats in the council, an increase of six seats. The liberals will have fourteen, a loss of eight seats.

Why my teeth are pearly white?
Why my breath is ever fragrant?
And my gums are rosy bright?
My secret's oft been told before—
Use SOZODONT. And nothing more.

A CHEYENNE ASSIGNMENT.

A Large Stock-Dealing Firm in Temporary Trouble.

CHEYENNE, May 16.—It became known here early this morning that last Saturday night Swan Bros., a well known firm of stock dealers, consisting of Alexander and H. O. Thomas Swan, had made an assignment of all the property of the firm, and of the individual members of the firm, for the benefit of their creditors, without any preferment. The liabilities are not yet accurately determined, but it is learned from the best authority that the assets of the firm will be largely in excess of the liabilities.

Swan Bros. have been doing an extensive business throughout the West, and up to this time they have met their engagements promptly and enjoyed the highest degree of public confidence and credit. The direct cause of this suspension is due to an action by attachment, brought against A. H. Swan by the German Savings bank of Davenport, Iowa, on a note which had been signed as security, and when no ultimate loss could occur because of the bank being fully protected by the property of the principal. This action, however, caused creditors not advised of the real facts to become alarmed, and many claims were presented against the firm, not yet due, and for which payment had been provided at maturity. But these now demanded immediate settlement. Alex. Swan was, at the time, in Europe, and had no notice that such action was contemplated on the part of the bank, and no opportunity was given him to protect himself against it. This caused a run upon the firm, in the absence of its managing member, which was met to the extent of $85,000, when it was decided to suspend in order to protect their property from sacrifice, and place all creditors upon an equal basis.

The creditors here and some elsewhere heard from, have expressed a desire that every indulgence should be given to the firm in the adjustment of their large business. The assignment is in no way connected with the business of the Swan Land and Cattle Company, and will involve no other interests than those mentioned. Alex. Swan himself stated to your correspondent this evening that the suspension is in no way due to his large cattle interests in Wyoming, which are in the most flourishing condition.

MORE PARTICULARS OF THE FAILURE.

DENVER, May 16.—Cheyenne special to the News: Considerable excitement was occasioned in business and financial circles by the announcement of the assignment of Swan Bros., well-known both in Europe and America as millionaire cattle dealers. The assignment was made Saturday to A. H. Reel and F. W. Lafrentz, but was not made public until to-day. An official statement of the liabilities could not be had, but will be made public in a few days. Reliable authority places the liabilities at $300,000. It may reach some higher, and might possibly fall under that figure. The assets cannot be estimated. The assignees say they are confident that every dollar of indebtedness can be paid off, providing they are given time, but if forced to dispose of the property in their hands, the estate will not realize over 50 per cent. of the indebtedness. The assets consist of stocks, bonds and real estate. They are interested in Omaha and Iowa realty, and in several cattle companies. The latter organizations are the Ogallala Land & Cattle Company, Swan Land & Cattle Company, Wyoming Hereford Association, Hillsdale Land & Cattle Company, and Cheyenne Land & Live Stock Company, and although they are stockholders in these companies, the failure will have no effect on them.

CATTLE INTERESTS NOT AFFECTED.

This failure will in no way affect cattle interests in the territory, inasmuch as the firm of Swan Bros. are not cattle owners. They were heavy operators in stock interests, and might properly be called cattle brokers. Through them has been made some very heavy sales of land and cattle companies to foreign corporations.

The direct cause of the failure was brought about by the German Savings bank of Davenport, Iowa, who issued an attachment for $75,000, the firm having gone security for an Iowa friend in that sum. They were already heavily involved, but not more than they considered themselves capable of liquidating.

A. H. Swan was in London, negotiating with some English and Scotch capitalists for the purchase of the Consolidated Land and Cattle Company, which he had lately formed. Receipt of the news regarding the attachment wrecked his scheme, and he immediately returned home, to find creditors pouring in on him. He made a desperate struggle to regain his feet, and paid out in a few days over $85,000, but the demand became so strong that they were forced to succumb.

The principal creditors are Chicago and New York banks, and the First National bank of Cheyenne, the latter, however, to a comparatively limited amount. There are also a number of small creditors, whose claims will probably be paid in full.

HISTORY OF THE FIRM.

The firm of Swan Bros. was formed in 1872 by A. H. and Thomas Swan of Iowa. The firm prospered and in the flush days of the cattle business added to its size by the purchase of a large number of ranches and herds, until in 1883 Alex Swan was universally known as the cattle king of Wyoming. The firm had branches under the names of the Cheyenne Land & Cattle Company, Swan Bros. and Frank, Ogallala Land & Cattle Company, Swan, Cheshire & Co., and the Swan Land & Cattle Company. The latter company was composed of Scotch and English capitalists, and A. H. Swan was manager on a salary of $10,000 a year, and the corporation was the most extensive cattle company in Wyoming. For the past year or two they have been stockholders only. Besides operating in cattle they have invested heavily in lands, and were interested in mining to a certain extent.

The feeling among the people here is universally in their favor. Mr. A. H. Swan was vice-president of the First National bank, of Cheyenne, and an energetic, vigorous and plucky man of business, who is held in the highest esteem by the people of Wyoming.

THE NEWS AT DENVER.

DENVER, May 16.—Reports of the failure of Swan Bros. at Cheyenne did not reach here until late this evening. Immediately after its arrival several bank managers were called upon with a view to learning whether the failure would have any effect upon financial circles of this city or not, but owing to the lateness of the hour it was impossible to learn whether any banks or cattlemen here hold any of Swan's paper or not.

Throws Up his Hands.

Yreka Journal.

A stranger arriving in Butte creek valley from Oregon a few days since, was interviewed by Deputy Assessor Tom Mageffery on the subject of capitation taxes and assessment of his property. Not understanding what was wanted, he immediately threw up his hands, when a further explanation resulted on both sides. When the stranger understood what the deputy desired he excused himself by stating that he thought another officer wanted him for Olsen the Napa murderer, having already been arrested twice in Oregon. He said he stopped at a place in the Linkville section, and was never so well treated in his life, the sheriff shadowing him and ordering the landlord to furnish the best of grub and lodging. In the morning, in getting ready to proceed in the direction of California, he was surprised with the order to throw up his hands, and readily complied, fearing he might get shot. After due examination, however, he was turned loose for the second time, and hopes those who may be hunting for Olsen will just give him a fair chance to prove mistaken identity, although he is always ready to throw up his hands any time an officer commands.

An Easy Way to Make Sheridan President.

Charleston News and Courier.

There is no occasion for honoring any bummer or incendiary who followed the Federal armies, or who led them. Brutal and savage in his conduct of the war, Sheridan has shown himself to be no less brutal and savage since it ended, and the people of the valley of Virginia should not fail to emphasize in every proper way the utter detestation in which his character and shameful deeds are held, and will ever be held, by the whole people of the South.

LOVE'S HIDE AND SEEK.

One day beneath a willowe tree,
Love met a mayde moste faire to see;
"Come play at hyde and seeke," cried he.
"With alle my heart!"—quoth she.

"I'm it!" Love cries, and rounde hys eyes
A scarfe the maiden bindeth,
And inne and oute and rounde aboute
Ye willowe trees he windeth—
Yette ne'er the maiden findeth.

Stille inne and oute and rounde aboute,
And stille no maiden meetinge;
Till piqued, ye rogue unbinds hys eyes,
And, perched upon a branch, espies
Ye mayde retreatinge;
Fie! Fie!" cries Love—"you're cheatinge!"

"Now you," quothe he, "must seek for me!"
She blinds her eyes, assentinge,
And inne and oute and rounde aboute,
Seeks she for Love relentinge.

But Love, they say—alas, ye day!
Has spread hys wings and flown away.
And left ye mayde lamentinge,

HORSE THIEVES

A correspondent writing to the Chieftain from Lostine, has the following to say regarding certain horse thieves in that vicinity

The air is full of rumors of lost horses which are supposed to have been stolen Several parties have lost one or two and it is reported that Wm Boyd has lost some thirty head We have some few young men in this neighborhood who never go on foot, who carry pistols and wear good clothes and talk loudly, yet they toil not neither do they spin" It is a reasonable conclusion that they pick up every now and then a horse or a cow, and whenever there are rumors of a vigilance committee, no matter how false and unfounded these rumors may be, it will be noticed that these fellows always squirm and kick which is very significant They will come to grief yet some day and then our stock will be safer

AN OLD TIMER

Polk County Itemizer

John N Durham, one of the jurymen at this term of the circuit court, was on the first jury ever empaneled in Polk county—that being in 1851 Judge Pratt presided, and Judge Boise was deputy prosecuting attorney At that term of court the case of the State vs. Everman Bros and two other men for the murder of C G. Hooker (who lived on the old Wm Tatom place near Dixie) was tried, and Mr Durham sat on the jury that convicted the murderers, Wm Everman was hung and his brother Hiram Everman was sentenced to hard labor, and as there was no penitentiary here, he was sold to the highest bidder, Theodore Prather, who then lived in the Umpqua country

The third prisoner was pardoned, and what became of the other two we failed to learn About one year later, in 1852, Mr Durham sat on the grand jury that indicted a man named Wimple, and who was afterwards convicted on the charge of stunning his wife by striking her on the head with the butt end of his revolver, and while she was in an insensible condition fired the house, located in Cooper Hollow, which was totally destroyed, and in which she was burned alive Wimple was hung upon the same gallows used in the execution of Wm Everman the year before It was rumored at the time that Wimple had a large sum of money and had buried it at the foot of a lone fir tree somewhere at Ellendale, a little west of Dallas How much truth there is in the latter statement we cannot say

About 1856 Mr Durham left Polk county for the Southern Oregon mines and from there drifted to Washington territory and then to Idaho While in the Idaho mines he found a diamond weighing an ounce and values it at $[illegible],000, and will soon have it divided into small chunks in value from $10 up to $1000 About a year ago he returned to this county and is located near McCoy, and with his return he brought back his old knack for getting on the jury and arrived in Dallas on last Monday for the first time in thirty-one years

LAKE CHELAN

Yakima Republic

Lake Chelan is a beautiful sheet of navigable water sixty miles in length entirely surrounded by mountains sporting eastward from the Cascade range At the foot of the lake the waters disembogue and find an outlet into the Columbia river From the lake to the Columbia it is two miles and in that short distance there is a fall of [illegible]00 feet This wild cataract is all there is of the Chelan river With the development of the country this water power may become very valuable The federal government should be urged to put deputy surveyors in the field and sectionize this region, as the large number of settlers pouring into the country are having disputes as to the boundaries of their claims, and are clamoring for surveyors The district south of the Big Bend of the Columbia is being surveyed but neither section nor township lines have been run north of the river

UNKNOWN DEAD

A special dispatch from Butte under date of May 1[illegible] to a Helena paper says The dead body of an unknown man was yesterday found in the brush near the railroad track about four miles north of Melrose, by a party of Utah & Northern railroad workmen There are no marks on the body to indicate that the man had met a tragic death nor was there anything found on his person to establish his identity He had a light mustache and goatee, and was apparently about 35 years old was clad in an ordinary suit of grey clothes with a scarf around the neck The body had probably lain in the brush several days and the supposition is that the wanderer died from exposure during the present cold snap The coroner is trying to solve the mystery

SCALPED BY A BEAR

Lewiston Teller

Indian Webb Testament's son while gunning on the Sweetwater, twelve miles east of Lewiston, the other day came in contact with a cinnamon bear He cocked his gun took aim at his antagonist and pulled the trigger but the gun failed again he pulled the trigger, but to no avail, and at this moment the bear reared on his hind legs, was within striking distance of young Webb and with his large paws tore from the Indian's forehead to the back of his neck one continuous strip of his scalp The Indian by some means miraculously escaped Dr McGee, the agency physician, was called, and upon his arrival found young Webb very weak from the loss of blood The bear was reported to be a mammoth beast.

AURIFEROUS FIELDS

VERY ENCOURAGING PROSPECTS FROM VARIOUS MINING CAMPS IN THE NORTHWEST

Baker City paper A number of our business men will pay a visit to the Silver creek mining district in the near future

A strike of lead ore was made on Old Baldy a few days ago on the East or North Fork of Eagle creek, below the Golden Dawn and Ocean groups Development may bring to light a big ledge of galena.

La Grande Gazette A sale of one third interest in the Companion mine, situated in the Granite district in this county, has been made to Cyrus T Wheeler, of Sacramento The purchase price was $[illegible]00

Spokane paper Mr Wardner reports that there is a great rush into the South Fork and that prospectors are scattering themselves all over the hills There will be little of the country left unprospected after the summer is over

Boise City Statesman Capt. Wm H Nye, of this city, and one of the owners of the Idahoan mine on Wood river, Alturas county, informs us that they are shipping two car loads of ore a day, and the mine is looking better than it ever has before They are working over one hundred men

Friday, says a Helena paper, the articles of incorporation of the La Jennie Mining Company were filed with Secretary Webb The incorporators are S T Hauser T H Kleinschmidt, I W Knight, R S Hale C K Wells and E W Toole The capital stock is $1 000 000, in shares of $5

The lower tunnel on the Mother Lode at Cœur d'Alene, at the water level where the famous slab lies, is in about [illegible]5 feet, the first one above it about 1[illegible]0, and the second above about 1[illegible]0, an aggregate of 3[illegible]5 feet A connection is now being made between the second and third tunnels, near the face of the former The ore continues as rich as ever and the ledge widens gradually as depth is attained

MALHEUR CANAL.

Baker City Democrat We learn from a person just returned from a trip across the mountains, that the Malheur canal, the means by which the placer mines of that section are worked, will be in full operation with a large supply of water by next Monday, that being the time set by Mr W H Packwood, the superintendent. The miners are very anxious to commence the season's work and feel that they are losing much valuable time every hour they are delayed The outlook for a good output of the mines of Eldorado, Malheur, Amelia, Mormon Basin and other districts across the mountains is favorable

WOLF LODGE SPECIMENS

Mr L C Dillman has just received some fine specimens from the Wolf Lodge mines, in which he is interested says a Spokane exchange The prospects in this camp he tells us, are looking exceptionally fine, all showing up good rock and some very rich in deposit. The Forester, Grand Mother, Crescent Gray Wolf, Sunset, Little Chief and Buckeye are among the most promising of all yet located The development work is being pushed on all those named and promise a rich reward Mr Dillman is quite sanguine over the future prospects of Wolf Lodge, and we think quite justly so This camp is destined to become one of the best in the Cœur d Alene section

GRANT COUNTY'S WEALTH

The immense wealth that lies hidden in the mountains of Grant county is bound to come to light sooner or laetr, and from indications it will be much sooner than some of the citizens expect says the Grant county News Walter Scott has been prospecting for several months in the hills up Canyon creek. He has found a number of good ledges of mineral but the best one has recently been located by Mr Scott, and W H Clark A rough assay of this rock was made by Mr Scott, who reports from $[illegible]00 to $1[illegible]00 per ton in silver, and some gold The rock is what is known as steel galena Mr Clark has sent some of the ore below for the purpose of having a thorough assay made and is expecting a report soon The Queen of the Hills, which is only about three miles from Canyon City, will make things boom before very long time

[illegible]

The richest gold strike tributary to Colville has recently been brought to public notice by Frank Rice and Col Burnham The location of the new strike is Rock creek says the Stevens County Miner, north from Colville and across the British line From the ore croppings it is impossible to attribute a definite width to the vein without expending quite an amount of labor in stripping the dirt from the surface But a few hours work with a hand mortar proved the rock to be free-milling and the result from less than twelve pounds of ore was over $100 in pure, glittering gold, which was exhibited at the Dominion hotel, in this city, last Thursday evening The above named gentlemen went below Friday and on their return in about ten days will prepare to bring the ore to this place for reduction Within two months the road will be completed so that wagons can go to the mines. The prospectors are stampeding to the new eldorado in a body

GOLD-BELT JUMBO MINE

Says an Idaho exchange The development work now being done on the Jumbo, one of the Gunn group of Gold Belt mines, is rapidly showing up one of the most extensive ore bodies ever uncovered in this country Few Inter Idaho readers have a faint conception of the magnitude and richness of the ore in sight.

We have received from Captain Gunn the following figures, which will convey a better idea of the extent of this mine th[illegible] is we could make use of. From the ore body is known to be 500 feet in length, and as the ledge has been thrown over on the hillside and near the surface lies flat, it is known that this blanket is 200 feet wide and averages four feet in thickness, which gives 240,000 cubic feet af quartz in sight, or 20 000 tons

Specimens of this ore exhibited at this office showed native silver spattered over the surface of the rock in great abundance, and also glittering specs of gold If we stop to figure on the value of this 20,000 tons our astonishment is aroused at the immensity of the sum Should the value of the ore be placed at $25 per ton—a reasonable estimate—it gives $500,000 in sight. When one contemplates these figures his confidence in the Gold Belt and the future of Wood River should be considerably strengthened

FROM OKANAGAN

A. E. Misner, the proprietor of the stage line from Spokane to Okanagan mining district, returned Wednesday night and reports the road in good condition and the camp prospering He told the reporter of a Spokane exchange that that section is destined to be one of great value in a short time, and that it will, if it continues to show up as it does at present, soon outrival the Colville and Cœur d'Alene regions The Fourth of July has been sold to three of the business men of Spokane, who will proceed at once to commence development on the same

The First Thought is attracting considerable attention at present One sixth interest was sold a few days ago to a Colville gentleman for $2[illegible]00 The new strike on the Lake Side is said to have assayed from one piece almost $12 000 and the average of the assays coming from this new found wonder is over $[illegible]00 per ton Mr Ballard, the gentlemanly young assayer at Salmon City has purchased a fourth interest in this prospect for the consideration of $2500 Mr Misner makes excellent time now from Spokane to that section and reports travel constantly on the increase

WHAT WILL BE DONE

In speaking of the mineral wealth of Garfield county, the Wallowa Chieftain says

From all parts of the Northwest promises are coming that the present season will be a very active one in mining affairs Rich strikes are the rule, and every district has its share of the large stories presented As yet nothing has been done in the mines of this district, although there is a general opinion that we have some of the richest and most lasting ledges in the state Will they remain undeveloped, or will something be done this season to interest capital and develop them? The returns of the Garfield ore sent some time ago for testing, will influence the probable answer to the above questions

If the returns are good, it will give an impetus to mining in this vicinity, that will work much good to the country On the contrary, if the returns are not up to expectations, many will be so discouraged that they will lose all hope But be this as it may, the mountains on the south of the Wallowa valleys contain mineral, and the ledges can be made to pay if properly worked Many of us will not have to live to an unusual age to see our mines an important part of the county's wealth, and they will be of that character, too that builds up a country permanently

GUNN'S GROUP

Wm H Atkinson came in Wednesday from the Gold Belt, says the Wood River Times He reports the people out there as cheerful and confidently expecting a very prosperous season The Gunn property, Mr Atkinson says, is opening up magnificently and promises to assume vast proportions The lay of the ledge is peculiar, however, and gave Capt. Gunn a great deal of anxiety, as for over two years he was unable to find his ledge What he did have was a sort of blanket formation, the ore lying perfectly flat under two to four feet of soft soil Cuts or trenches were made through this, showing the deposit to be 150 feet to 200 feet one way and 200 to 300 feet the other, but varying in thickness Now that the ledge has been cut in the tunnel, the upper levels can be worked so cheaply that two men can extract ten to fifteen tons per day They can "quarry" rather than mine.

The tunnel has developed the ledge at a point where it is evidently assuming its permanent dip, and shows three distinct classes of ore, but with no observable separation or stratification On the hanging wall there is a foot thick of chloride and bromide of silver, mixed with lead, that will assay fully $150 per ton Next comes about three feet of quartz carrying about $10 in silver and $30 to $50 in gold per ton then, on the foot wall are two feet of ore carrying $[illegible] in gold and no silver Altogether there is from six to six and a half feet of clean ore that is of high grade and will average at least $[illegible]0 per ton

GRANDE RONDE MINING MATTERS

The La Grande Gazette of May 13 contains the following mining notes

On every hand we hear of people preparing to work and develop their mining properties as never before in this section of the country And the outlook could not be better The amount of snow in the high mountains assures an abundance of water for the placer mines At the same time it keeps the quartz prospector out for awhile

Wellman Bros are at work on their property 1 mile south of town and they say are developing a bonanza. The ore is a sand carbonate and the elder brother claims is like much of the Leadville ores We have not seen the results of any of the tests made of their ore, but they express themselves as well satisfied.

The Grand Ronde hydraulic mining company have completed the ditch bringing water on their ground, and as soon as some necessary fluming is completed, will commence moving gravel Mr Angel, superintendent of the company, took a run to Portland this week

From Messrs Bentley and Schank we learn much of interest regarding the mines on Clear creek and Cable cove, southwest of La Grande In the Monarch mine the property is developed by a tunnel 166 feet in, which crosscuts the ledge at 150 feet vertical depth The ore body has been prospected on the surface for 700 feet. The ore body is five to seven feet in width, free milling, and worth $12 to $40 per ton The California mine in Cable cove is now producing large quantities of ore worth $150 per ton. This is being piled on the dump The company have not yet decided whether to ship ore or not. The ledge of gray copper ore recently discovered shows about eighteen inches of high grade ore It is reported that the Whitman Company at Pine creek, have uncovered a large body of rich ore

The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, TUESDAY, MAY 17, 1887.

BROTHERS ALL.

It has been pretty frequently remarked by THE OREGONIAN that Portland could not justly be called an enterprising city. But is the country round about, is the Northwest, taken by and large, any more enterprising than Portland? It certainly is not.

The fact is that Portland and the Northwest at large are pretty much of a piece. THE OREGONIAN may speak of "mossbackism" in Portland without being absurd; but when journals of Salem, of Roseburg, of Oregon City, of Corvallis, of Jacksonville, of Ashland, of The Dalles, of Pendleton, of Heppner, of Walla Walla, and so on through the list, declare their impatience because they find in Portland no activity, no enterprise, no public spirit commensurate with the wants and aspirations of the country, one is almost tempted to turn the mirror so that our excellent friends and critics of those towns and of the Northwest in general may have opportunity to see whether they themselves are not fairly good, or, indeed, first rate types of "fossilism" themselves.

In many respects their own industrial and business methods certainly are not admirable, and their own spirit of enterprise can hardly be called original and aggressive. In no small degree the want of enterprise so much complained of in Portland proceeds from the fact that the country is heavy, sluggish and inert; and hence if the country has suffered from Portland's want of spirit, so Portland has suffered from the inertness of the country. These are the two halves of the shell of the same lifeless oyster. Portland, as to spirit and enterprise, is just such a city as would naturally grow up in a country where spirit and enterprise had never been sufficiently cultivated and developed. If Portland has not done her share neither has the country done its share; and it is a case of "fit body to fit head."

Now then, since we are all members of the same family, yoked together without possibility of divorce, and therefore of necessity to live together, let us understand each other. Moss accumulates in the country on the whole faster than in the city, because there is likely to be less movement to scrape it off. Industry, activity, energy, punctuality, are as necessary qualities for the country as for the city; and when the city finds the country lacking, or slow, in these qualities, it grows indifferent to its opportunities, or fails to see them, and comes to the conclusion that nothing except lending money or handling merchandise will pay. Our situation here, with our long isolation, has made us, both in town and country, a provincial people; and one of the most invincible of all the obstacles it has filled us with is our provincial conceit. Our good people "from way back," both in town and country, know it all, and experience gathered elsewhere is nothing to them.

We take it that the country at large is just about as much in need of "new blood" as Portland itself. We are all very much alike; this process of assimilation has been going on these many years, and the "mossback" of Portland is the true brother of the "mossback of the country. Now let us quit our criminations, cease to worship old Oregon, and make a new Oregon!

A LONG HAUL, FOR A FACT.

In Saturday's OREGONIAN appears a dispatch from the Chicago Times referring to the Chicago & Northwestern railroad coming this way from Fort Fetterman, which appears on the outside of this issue of the Welcome, and was clipped over a week ago from the San Francisco Chronicle, where it originally appeared as an editorial.—Sunday Welcome.

The article did in fact originate in the San Francisco Chronicle. It appeared in full in the Evening Telegram of this city on the 2d May; so that the Welcome was even further behind time in printing it as a clipping than THE OREGONIAN was in getting it as a telegraphic dispatch from Chicago. Reprinted by many papers in the West, it floated off to Chicago, and the Times of that city gave it a place in its columns devoted to railroad news. A press reporter, supposing it to be news matter originating with the Times, telegraphed it West, and THE OREGONIAN, receiving it last Friday night—the telegraph editor and proof-reader not having seen it before—printed it on Saturday morning. It likewise appeared in the San Francisco Bulletin of last Friday evening, having been telegraphed also to that paper from Chicago; and on Saturday morning it appeared among "telegraph briefs" in the Call.

We observe that that pitiful fraud to journalism, the Portland News, expends more energy upon this trifling matter than upon anything else that has engaged its attention since it was in labor to get money on its last mortgage. "THE OREGONIAN," it shrieks, "is at its old trick of date-raising!" "The article, having arrived in course of mail, was clipped, and the date raised as a telegraphic dispatch!" And much more. This from the bogus journal that has always made the bulk of its "news" by "raising dates," which fact, long notorious, has kept its circulation down to a poor and pitiful few hundred copies, and even these taken out of charity to a shabby beggar, as one would toss a cold biscuit to a tramp. And then a daily paper that "runs" columns upon columns of dead city "ads," and other columns upon columns of "patent outside block matter," that country weeklies reject, and has moreover in this very issue above a column of telegraphic matter reprinted from THE OREGONIAN of the day before,—but stay; let us laugh, for who can do justice to the subject?

THE NEW SOUTH.

At a meeting of business men at Birmingham, Ala., a few days ago a committee appointed at a previous meeting made the following report, viz:

> Your committee respectfully report that in their own opinion it is desirable to organize a commercial and industrial association, and recommend that the name of this organization be the "Commercial and Industrial Association of Birmingham." Your committee recommends that the objects of the organization be the promotion of the industrial, commercial and manufacturing development of the city and district by judicious advertising; by obtaining and furnishing information as to the terms upon which lands or sites may be obtained for such projected enterprises as may be brought to its notice; by encouraging immigration, aiding and procuring cheap homes for laborers, and by such other means as may be from time to time decided upon by the association after its organization.

After the adoption of the report a bureau was organized, whose duty it is to be to furnish all information possible concerning advantages offered in Alabama to various industries, to solicit business enterprises to locate there, and by every possible means to promote the industrial and commercial development of the state.

Alabama represents the extreme South. She has been for a half century more provincial than Oregon, and since there has been an awaking in Alabama, why should an awakening in Oregon be regarded as impossible?

PROFESSIONAL MEN IN THE WAR.

The late justice, William B. Woods, of the United States supreme court, came of fighting stock. When the war broke out Judge Woods's brother, Charles R. Woods, of the Ninth U. S. Infantry, who had graduated from West Point in 1852, was appointed colonel of the Seventy-Sixth Ohio infantry, and his brother William B. Woods, was appointed lieutenant colonel of the same regiment. Charles R. Woods was quickly appointed brigadier-general, and William B. Woods succeeded him as colonel of the regiment. When the war ended Charles R. Woods was major-general of the volunteers and had been repeatedly brevetted in the regular army for distinguished services, and Justice Woods came out a full brigadier-general of volunteers, and major-general by brevet. It is one of the grand records of our civil war that a man who, as a young lawyer, went to the war as a lieutenant-general, returned a general, and then quickly resuming his profession, rose to be judge of the highest court of the country. Judge Stanley Matthews, of the United States supreme court was also a gallant Union soldier. Other cases in point are Gilman Marston, of N. H.; Judge Devens, of Massachusetts; Judge Force, of Ohio; Judge Venzie, of Vermont; Gov. Alger, of Michigan; Gov. Chamberlain, of Maine, Gov. Beaves, of Pennsylvania; Wager Swaine, and Francis C. Barlow of New York; Judge Gresham, of the United States circuit court; Gen. Francis C. Walker and Senator Hawley. The professional men of the West, from Presidents Hayes and Garfield down, seemed to have joined the ranks of the Union army more freely than the professional men East. The traders, farmers, mechanics and merchants at the East were conspicuous in the great conflict, but the Eastern professional man did not volunteer as promptly or in as large numbers as the Western professional man.

NOT REALLY DANGEROUS.

Gen. Francis A. Walker, in the May number of the Forum, says that the socialists are an active, increasing body, which is rapidly assuming the proportions of a great political party, threatening not only the peace but the order of society and the prosperity of industry.

This, certainly, is a hasty and incorrect generalization. There is no proof that the socialists are gaining large numbers anywhere. A few persons who "let themselves loose" can always make a great noise.

It is undoubtedly true, as the Philadelphia Inquirer puts it, that the socialists can not succeed as a political force until the mass of ignorance and vice in the country becomes greater than the mass of intelligence and virtue; to succeed otherwise they must create a revolution, which would necessarily be not against a personal government, but a government of the whole people. Such a revolution would be doomed to failure from its inception. There is no small, privileged class here to raise a hue and cry against, much less to exterminate. It would scarcely do, for instance, for the socialists to revolt against the property-owning class, as that is the largest of all in numbers and has a great many more representatives among the laboring men and women than among the so-called capitalists.

In the city of New York alone there are to-day over 600,000 depositors in the savings banks, with an average deposit of over $350. Each one of this vast multitude is to the amount of his deposit a property owner, hence an aggressive enemy of socialism. It is the same in all our cities; and when we come to the rural districts, there are practically no socialists. The rural classes work for their living and are in no humor to tolerate theorists of bummerdom.

HOW IT IS WORKING.

The San Francisco Bulletin of Friday last puts in these doleful remarks about the results of the interstate commerce act:

> The act is operating profitably for the Canadian Pacific railway, if it does suspend and disturb traffic over American lines across the continent. The American Sugar Refinery has just sent 2,000,000 pounds of sugar—about seventy-five carloads—from this city to Port Moody by water, and thence by rail to New York.
>
> Our statesmen in Washington have very nearly succeeded in driving American commerce from the sea, and they are in a fair way to be equally successful regarding the transportation of products by land. While the provisions of the act may not work to the advantage of the majority of shippers and producers in the United States, it is working like a charm for our Canadian neighbors and English cousins who have their capital invested in that part of the continent. Until something is done by the commission or by agreement of the American roads, the Canadian competition cannot be met.
>
> At present confusion reigns. The rates are variable. The fruit rate from California to Chicago and New York is not settled. Various figures have been named and a low one may be adopted. That is the present indication. The rate to-day on greasy wool to Boston is $1 50, and on scoured $2 50. Canned goods go to Missouri river points for 75 cents, and to New York for $1.
>
> It is predicted that raw sugar from Honolulu will hereafter go by clipper ships to New York, and the quantity coming here will be only that demanded for local consumption. The rate for canned salmon is in abeyance. Canadian Pacific competition will fix this rate unless the short and long haul clause of the interstate commerce act is permanently suspended.
>
> If the Western statesman expects a fat hog to be taken from Topeka to Chicago averaging per mile the cost of transporting a salmon from the Sacramento to New York, then the rate for salmon will be very high or the cost of shipping hogs very low.

A dispatch from Washington states that George Gray, counsel for the Northern Pacific railroad, has laid before Secretary Lamar a plan for the settlement of the vexed question of indemnity lands. The lands are unsurveyed, and it is proposed that the company shall ascertain as nearly as possible what amount of lands the grant is lacking, and from those already withdrawn for indemnity purposes the secretary shall select and set aside enough to cover the deficit, and then throw open to settlement all remaining lands. Gray adds: "The truth is, none of these lands, either in the grant or within the indemnity limits, have been surveyed, and we cannot select them until surveyed. For the fact that these lands are not surveyed the government, and not the road, is responsible. If they carry out my plan we shall have to run the risk of making these selections from unsurveyed lands by such descriptions as we can best secure."

William O'Brien, editor of United Ireland, is making a great stir in Canada. The specific object of his visit to Canada is to denounce Gov.-Gen. Lansdowne to the people of the Dominion for his alleged severity in causing the eviction of tenants from his Irish estates. O'Brien finds much sympathy and support in Canada, since only a minority of the people are of English origin. Lansdowne has been governor-general of Canada since August, 1883. His hereditary estates comprise most of county Kerry, in Ireland. He is described as by no means one of the worst of landlords, but a pretty fair type. He is said to be dreadfully afraid of public opinion, and hence is a good deal disturbed by O'Brien's visit to Canada.

You don't see a drunken man in Portland once in a month, and your senses are seldom offended by alcoholic liquors; but if you are a person of decent sensibilities you can't go on the streets of Portland a minute in the day without being offended with vile fumes of tobacco. Prohibition that don't prohibit tobacco, more offensive than alcohol and quite as injurious, is no prohibition! You can get away from alcohol, but the unspeakable nastiness of tobacco is everlastingly with you. If we are to have prohibition by all means let us include tobacco, to the vile use of which many, perhaps a great majority, of the so-called prohibitionists are addicted.

The army of the Cumberland has voted to erect a monument to Gen. Wm. H. Lytle, who fell at Chickamauga September 20, 1863. Gen. Lytle was a brilliant lawyer of Cincinnati, who went to war as colonel of the Tenth Ohio. He was the author of the popular poem, "I am Dying, Egypt, Dying."

Beauregard, in his recent reply to Jefferson Davis, says: "On several occasions during the war he (Davis) came to the relief of the Union army by means of his superior military genius." This is intended for sarcasm, and good sarcasm it is.

If the organs of the late lamented Confederacy will just keep up their fire on Gen. Phil. Sheridan till 1888 they will make him president, beyond all question.

For Real Estate Buyers.

There is a well founded belief among intelligent observers that no city East or West affords a better prospect of rapid growth than does the city of Portland. Capital from the East is flowing Westward, and the enterprise coming along with it, and which has built up the great cities of the West and Northwest, is now beginning to be felt on the Pacific slope.

Portland is soon to be the Western terminus of three or more transcontinental roads, and the important interests centering here cannot but produce great changes in the near future. No one can question but that real estate in this city will be greatly influenced by these new conditions.

Investments in real property, when judiciously made, are the safest, and usually the most remunerative of all kinds of investment.

The certain rise that must take place in real estate in Portland makes it important for any one proposing to invest to lose no time in unnecessary delay.

Among some pieces of valuable property which are offered at the very low prices ruling here for some time past, is a

HALF BLOCK ON EAST PARK ST., and within five blocks of the postoffice, together with the spacious residence thereon.

Building carefully planned and constructed; contains 12 rooms, heated with furnace, and furnished throughout in modern style.

Grounds are finely improved.

This property can be bought entire for seventeen thousand and five hundred dollars ($17,500), or will sell the residence and quarter block separately.

This fine residence property is just now placed in the market, and ought to find an immediate purchaser.

WE CITE ANOTHER INSTANCE OF FORMER low prices—that of a fine tract in the southwestern part of the city, being 100x115 feet in size, with a dwelling of 10 rooms; stone wall in front of premises; everything in perfect order and as good as new. This fine homestead can be bought for $4500.

$6500 WILL BUY A FULL LOT ON THIRD street that will soon be in demand for business purposes.

FIVE (5) QUARTER BLOCKS IN COUCH'S ADDItion, ranging in price from $3250 to $5000.

$3000—FULL BLOCK IN PORTLAND HOMEstead.

$7000—ONE OF THE FINEST BLOCKS IN East Portland.

$2000—FIVE ACRES ADJOINING THE CAR Shops.

$5000 WILL BUY A GOOD RESIDENCE & LOT 50x100 feet, fronting east, and only four blocks from the Postoffice.

TO ANY ONE SEEKING A SUBURBAN INVESTment we desire to call attention to a FINE TRACT of Fifteen Acres, well improved, good house, barn and orchard, and fine stream of running water through the place.

Located one and one-half miles east of Jefferson st. ferry. Price, $6000.

The above is only a partial list of good, safe investments now in our hands.

Buyers are invited to examine any of the numerous opportunities for small or large investments in real estate which we can offer.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

SHEEP THIEF SENTENCED.—Sheriff Bently, of Umatilla county, arrived here yesterday morning, having in charge J. P. Looney, en route to the penitentiary for one year for stealing a band of sheep about two years ago from [illegible] Galliford, of Butter Creek. Looney was arrested at the time and was released on $1000 bonds. He jumped the state and went to Lake county, California, to which place Sheriff Bently traced him and brought him back. Umatilla county sued and forfeited the $1000 bonds. Looney on his return pleaded guilty before [illegible] and expressed himself as satisfied at getting off with the light sentence he did. He returned to Salem yesterday afternoon.

TWO SMALL BLAZES.—Yesterday morning about 10 o'clock, the fire department was called out by an alarm at No. 230 First street, between Salmon and Maine. The roof of the building caught fire from sparks from the chimney, but the fire was extinguished before any material damage had been done. The lower part of the house is occupied as a restaurant, and the upper floor by Mrs. Dr. Neuman. The contents of the building sustained no damage. At 11:30 A. M. yesterday, some excitement was occasioned by a slight blaze issuing from a [illegible] one of the offices on First and Washington streets. There was no alarm and the fire was quickly extinguished without calling the department.

THE JOHN FISKE LECTURES.—These lectures are brought to Portland by the public-spirited generosity of a few citizens who have subscribed the following sums, from $100 to $15, viz: [illegible] Kearney, S. G. Reed, D. P. Thompson, [illegible] Corbett, Henry Failing, W. F. Burrell; [illegible] Mr. J. C. Flanders, $100, and G. H. [illegible]. They have done so for the purpose of giving the public, at a low rate, the opportunity of hearing first-class work from a representative American writer and speaker, and in the hope of advancing the interest in intellectual pursuits and the study of history. The lectures will be given at the Tabernacle, beginning June [illegible] and continue three weeks—no doubt to crowded audiences.

NEW ELEVATOR AND COOLER. — Messrs. [illegible] & Cook, the patentees, have had in operation at the saloon of R. Gerdes, Second and B streets, one of these new inventions which is destined to supersede other patents from the fact of its superiority in construction, which includes advantages not possessed by machines now in use. These gentlemen can best explain the practical workings of the elevator and cooler to investors by a personal inspection of the invention. Parties desirous of seeing the machine in operation can interview Messrs. [illegible] & Cook at Neppach's drug store, Third and [illegible] streets. In the event of their absence inquiries can be made at Gerdes's, as above.

THE [illegible] CASE.—The public will probably be interested to learn that the divorce case of Cline vs. Cline is not yet settled. Each has sued the other and each has entered counter actions. After a protracted siege Jacob and Wally were divorced, but the supreme court set it aside. Then followed another long struggle, and Judge Stearns again divorced Wally from Jacob and awarded her one-third of Jacob's property, consisting of lots 3, 4, 5 and 6, block 111, lot 8, block 149, and block 144, all in Portland. Jacob is not satisfied with the decree, and yesterday expressed his displeasure at it by filing papers in the county clerk's office of notice of an appeal to the supreme court.

COLUMBIA COUNTY CRIMINALITIES.—Frank [illegible], who bit the ear off a man named Wallace at Wallace's island, some months ago, plead guilty Saturday in the circuit court at St. Helens before Judge Frank J. Taylor and was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. He was returned to the county jail here Saturday by Deputy Sheriff T. C. Watts. He will be taken to the penitentiary Thursday. Sing [illegible], the Chinaman charged with bestial conduct, was tried yesterday. Thomas Sullivan, who stabbed Merrill Blanchard to death, and who has been indicted by the grand jury of Columbia county for manslaughter is to be tried Thursday.

JUDICIAL INTERFERENCE UNNECESSARY.—[illegible] Rodgers, who lives in a scow moored below the [illegible] dock, had an examination before Justice Tuttle yesterday on a charge of threatening to do bodily harm to Mrs. Alvina Nihart, a woman who came here some months ago from The Dalles on a tramp. On arriving she met Rodgers and told him a pitiful story and he took her in. Rodgers alleged that he cared for the woman for some time and finally she became [illegible] and a falling-out ensued and Rodgers [illegible]. Justice Tuttle concluded that the best way to settle the dispute was to allow Rodgers and the woman to settle it among themselves, so he accordingly dismissed the case.

FERRY FRANCHISE LEASED.—The Sellwood Real Estate Company yesterday leased to W. S. [illegible], for a term of five years, their franchise to run a ferry from Sellwood to the Red House. Under the terms of the lease, the ferry boat must be put on the route within fifteen days from to-day, and this will be done. This enterprise will give teams a shorter route to Riverview park, will give teams from Willsburg [illegible] of the Milwaukee or the Macadam road to Portland, and when the narrow gauge road is built, will form the connecting link of a direct line to Sellwood, from the north and the south.

THE REDUCED RATES ON THE O. & C.—The reduced tickets sold by the O. & C.—$22 first class and $15 emigrant—are good only for a continuous passage between Portland and San Francisco. The buffet service will soon be established on the Pullman sleepers between Portland and Ashland, the same as between San Francisco and Hornbrook. A "commissary car" of the company now stationed at St. [illegible] has been ordered here, and will arrive in a few days to inaugurate the service.

ARION CONCERT.—Members of the Orchestral [illegible] and others who are to assist in the forthcoming concert will meet at Arion hall this evening at 8 o'clock promptly, for rehearsal. Purchasers of tickets can exchange them for reserved seats at Prentice's music store to-morrow (Wednesday) morning at 8 o'clock. As a large number of tickets have already been disposed of, those wishing choice seats will do well to be on hand early.

SMALL BLAZE.—At 9 o'clock yesterday morning the fire department was summoned to No. 230 First street, between Salmon and Main. The roof of the building caught fire from sparks from the chimney, but the fire was extinguished before any material damage had been done. The lower part of the house is occupied as a restaurant, and the upper floor by Mrs. Dr. Neumann. The contents of the building sustained no damage.

THE TRUE AND THE STANDARD TIME.—A correspondent at Alpowa, Garfield county, W. T., asks: "Do the railroad and steamboat companies leaving and arriving at Portland use the 120th meridian standard time, and what is the difference between that and the local time at Portland?" Yes, all transportation companies use the Pacific standard time, and everybody else does. It is the official time of Portland. This city is 8 h. 10 min. 43 sec. west of Greenwich. The 120th meridian is just eight hours west: hence the difference between true time and the time now in use is ten minutes and forty-three seconds.

PRISONER DISCHARGED.—Grace Buckley, the servant girl arrested on charges of larceny from Mrs. J. P. Howe and Mrs. Walter Marston has been discharged from custody, Mr. Howe, who made the complaint, declining most positively to prosecute. The girl asserts that she is innocent and has done so since the day of her arrest, although questioned closely by the police. When let go she was cautioned to be a good girl, when she replied: "I have always been a good girl and know nothing about this affair." Grace has a sister in The Dalles, to whom she will go.

THE COLUMBIA RIVER JETTY. — For several days during last week Capt. Chas. F. Powell, U. S. engineer, has been on an official visit to the mouth of the Columbia, to look after the government work there. Sunday evening Capt. Powell returned from Astoria on the ocean steamer. Work has been begun driving piling for the further extension of the jetty into the sea. Contracts for stone and other work will soon be let, and what can be done with the limited appropriation available this year will be pushed rapidly forward.

EMBEZZLER TO BE TRIED AGAIN.—Wednesday in Judge Stearns's court Harry Prindle is to be tried on indictment No. 2, for embezzling money from Geo. C. LaRocque. Prindle has been in jail for a long time. He was arrested in San Francisco and brought back to Portland on a requisition. A trial on indictment No. 1, although vigorously prosecuted, resulted in his acquittal. Three indictments, each charging him with embezzling a separate amount of money, were brought against him.

GRAND EXCURSION FOR PORTLAND PEOPLE.—Next Saturday, with the R. R. Thompson, an opportunity will be given the Portland public to ride up the glorious Columbia and see Multnomah falls, one of the wonders of the northwest, the water descending perpendicularly eight hundred feet. This excursion is for everyone. All are invited. Every effort will be made to give all who go a day of solid enjoyment. Only fifty cents the round trip of one hundred miles.

ENGINE HOUSE SOLD.—Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock 3's old engine house on Washington street, between Second and Third, together with the lot on which it stands, was sold at auction by Oscar Kilborn to Thomas Patterson for $16,450. The sale is subject to confirmation by the city council, who value the property at $18,000. At one time they refused an offer of $15,000 for it.

ANOTHER COUNTY HEARD FROM.—On the morning of the 16th inst. Claude Matlock, flour packer for the Salem Flouring Mills Company, packed, sewed, weighed and stacked on truck, 147 quarter sacks of flour, all in the space of one hour, and claims some force in reserve. This beats the record as far as reported, and is undoubtedly very rapid work.

DEDICATION.—The engine house in Stephens' addition, East Portland, recently purchased by the M. E. church, was dedicated to the worship of God, Sunday afternoon. Rev. W. S. Harrington, D. D., of Salem, preached the dedicatory sermon. Revs. H. K. Hines, J. W. Alderman, E. W. Caswell and I. D. Driver took part in the services.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC.—Passenger Agent C. G. McCord, with office at No. 6 Washington street, desires it understood that the company he represents issues round trip tickets to the East, though the impression might exist that but one road did so. The Canadian Pacific is in the field all the time.

"THE GREAT ROCK ISLAND ROUTE" STILL IN THE LEAD.—Regardless of misrepresentations being made by an unscrupulous agent of an inferior competing line, it is a positive fact that "The Rock Island" lands Eastern passengers from Oregon and Washington territory in Chicago in advance of all other lines, and furnishes superior accommodations in every respect. The finest Pullman palace sleeping and palace dining cars in the world accompany all through trains. Emigrant passengers carried on fast express trains. For full information apply to any coupon agent or Charles Kennedy, general agent, 3 Washington street, Portland.

EXCURSION EAST.

Dr. John A. Child is sending postal cards over the country headed, "First Class in Every Particular," and which leaves the inference with recipients that he can do great things for them on his excursion, June 1. The facts are that the rates he offers—Portland to St. Paul and return $90—are open to anybody at any time, and there are no advantages that he can offer that are not obtainable by individuals or small parties, regardless of any particular date. This rate ($90 and return) applies either to the Northern Pacific or Union Pacific railways, and is good going or returning by either of the above mentioned lines until October 31, 1887. East of St. Paul he says he has "made arrangements east of St. Paul to other points at less rates than usual." No doubt about it. All rates east of St. Paul are less than they ever were, and they are open to everybody. I will pay $10 each for every ticket from Dr. Child or any one else which is obtained at less than the regular tariff between St. Paul and Chicago. The round trip and all other tickets are on sale only at the Ash street wharf ticket office by A. L. Maxwell, agent O. R. & N. railway. W. H. MARSHALL, General Agent Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway.

EASTERN PASSENGERS.

Parties intending going East soon should arrange to accompany Dr. Child, who leaves Portland June 1. Special accommodations and good company. For full particulars apply at Drug Store corner Second and Morrison streets, or to A. L. Maxwell, ticket agent.

Round Trip Rates East.

Parties contemplating going East on or about June 1 will find it to their interest to call at the Canadian Pacific office, No. 6 Washington street, before they make their arrangements or deposit money with any other company or outside party.

We have been paying strict attention to our own business and very little to the bragging of our competitors. Any dealer can sell poor goods cheap, but the public soon discover that they are dear at any price. This beautiful tract of land, consisting of 208 lots, is situated in the famous fruit growing district adjoining East Portland, one-half mile east of the city limits, on the extensively traveled Base Line road, also on the main line of the Mount Tabor & East Portland railway, and only five minutes' ride from the Morrison-street bridge. This land is all level, cleared and in a high state of cultivation, with fruits and berries, such as apples, plums, prunes, cherries, peaches, pears, etc., together with strawberries, blackberries, and, in fact, all the fruits and berries for which this favored section is noted.

Situated as it is, away from the malarial district, it is entirely free from all miasmatic influences, and is destined to become, with the rapidly increasing population of the two cities, what Berkeley and Alameda are to San Francisco—a place of beautiful homes.

Through the completion of the Morrison-street bridge

PARADISE SPRING FARM

Is made a delightful suburb to the city of Portland, and in less than six months passenger trains of the Mount Tabor & East Portland Railway Company will pass this property every half-hour, thus making it possible for the merchant, the mechanic and the laborer to do business in Portland and live in the most delightful of all its suburbs. To the observing man we deem it unnecessary to enlarge or even to dwell upon the possibilities of Portland and its suburbs as compared with those of any other city, believing, as we do, that it is without a parallel in the United States. Although the city of Portland has not yet attained the average lifetime of man, it ranks to-day in population as the forty-fifth city in the Union, is the actual terminus of three transcontinental lines, has more wealth within its boundaries and a greater area of territory at its command than any other city of America.

Portland's position as a trade and travel center is as thoroughly defined on the Pacific coast as that of New York on the Atlantic, and it is safe to say that within ten years it will have a population of over 100,000. Already its residence capacity is taxed, and right here the question arises, Where will these newcomers seek homes? Will it be in the stilled precincts of a four-story tenement house, such as is found in the densely populated cities? Will it be on the rugged hills surrounding the city, where land is already held at $8000 a block? Or will it be on the

BEAUTIFUL UNBROKEN PLAIN.

Extending eastward from the river, on which is situated Paradise Spring Farm? Land on either side of Paradise Spring Farm has sold as high as $1500 per acre, and the most inferior cannot be bought to-day for less than $1000, and that only in five and ten-acre tracts, and yet we propose in this matter to give subscribers a chance to secure a regular lot, fifty feet by one hundred feet, at the same rates as sold per acre, besides making them a present of a new, handsome, modern-designed, hard-finished house, all ready for occupancy. These lots, 208 in number, will be placed on the market at the reasonable price of $200 each, one-fourth of that sum to be paid at the time of subscription and the balance in monthly installments of $15 each, without interest on deferred payments. As a further inducement to populate this beautiful section, we have now in course of erection six handsome, modern-designed five and seven-room houses, which are to be given away free to the purchasers of lots. Under this arrangement six out of the 208 subscribers will secure a handsome house and lot, worth $1400 each, for the small sum of $200, while the balance will have lots that cannot be purchased anywhere in the same locality for less than $300 each, and then only in acre tracts—a fact that precludes the possibility of purchase at all by men of limited means. The award of the houses is to be made under the supervision of a committee of responsible and disinterested citizens, at some public hall to be agreed upon, in Portland, in June, 1887.

Parties at a distance can purchase under this plan of award as well as those in the city, it being specifically agreed on our part that everything is to be just as represented.

Remittances can be made to us by mail or express.

METHOD OF SALE:

These houses, six in number, together with the orchards and other improvements, are to remain on the lots where they are at present situated, and are included in the price paid for the lots ($200 each), to those who draw the fortunate numbers.

In order that all buyers may have an equal chance in the drawing the following plan of award will be adopted: The name of each subscriber will be placed on one slip of paper and a number of each lot, from 1 to 208, will be placed on another slip; the two slips will be placed in separate boxes, and under the supervision of responsible and disinterested citizens will be drawn simultaneously. The number drawn will designate the lot belonging to the subscriber whose name accompanies it. Under this plan the names as well as the numbers will be placed in the separate boxes promiscuously, thereby removing any possible advantage that one subscriber might have over another.

The plats on file in our office, as well as a visit to the premises, will show on which lots the houses are located; but no one can tell who will receive the winning numbers until they have been drawn blindfolded from the box.

Each and every subscriber will receive a warranty deed to his lot, without any extra charge whatever.

Remember that there are six elegant, modern-design dwellings to be given away with these lots. Price, $200 each; one-fourth down and the balance in installments of $15 a month, without interest.

On and after May 1 we will have an elegant four-horse conveyance on hand to convey prospective purchasers to and from the premises free of charge.

In order to accommodate those who cannot call during the day, our office will be open every evening (except Sunday) during the above sale, from 7 to 9.

GAMBLING.

A Sermon Delivered at the Unitarian Church by Rev. Eliot.

A Consuming Vice Considered in Its Many Phases—Second to no Other in the Catalogue of Social Vices.

The purpose of this paper is

To declare gambling, under whatever form a vice pernicious to the individual more dangerous than any other in its contagion.

To show that in the guise of raffles pool rooms, gift enterprises, lotteries, the stock exchange and speculative manias it is a widespread and national evil.

To describe the fallacies of conscience and intellect which are the capital in gambling schemes and the remedies in the individual and society at large.

We say vice Why a vice? What intrinsic wrong? Now when we search for the evil germ in what is called gambling, from a theoretic standpoint that germ is indeed hard to separate and define Two persons agree to play a game of chance or skill, the reward of which shall be their amusement and a piece of money What apparently more harmless! Shall we find fault with a mere game? Not at all Is not the quarter or half dollar fairly owned by each man who stakes it, and fairly won according to agreement? Where real skill is involved, is it any more than a reward? Is it not really earned? The sophistry of such a statement is hard to discern and the sin of gambling does not appear to be axiomatic, like that involved in lying and stealing

WE MUST JUDGE THE TREE BY ITS FRUIT

My interest in this theme has been hightened by the fact that I do not find much written about gambling—no full treatment—and the librarian of Harvard sends word there are no monographs But that it is difficult in theory to detect the germ of evil, in appeals to chance, is no proof that such evil is imaginary The same theoretic difficulty exists in all moral questions, but habit and education have developed conscience concerning them The right of property and the sin of theft, the right of person, and the sin of murder, in history, have had rudimentary beginnings. Go to theorizing about them and you will find the same difficulty in proving the nature of the evil in such cases, as in gambling We must, therefore, turn to experience, and judge the tree by its fruit. This is nature's law, and nature is one name for God If we find the moderate gambler and the confirmed gambler models of manhood we may teach the art in our nurseries and foster the spirit of it in our schools If the gambler is even in worldly judgment a successful man if, as a trade, his craft deserves survival among callings, like farming and commerce, let us give him at least belligerent rights but if at first flush of an average conscience, these assumptions are denied, let us feel sure we are on safe ground when we call gambling a vice Look now closer at the unfolding of the gaming spirit, and judge for yourself whether it is not the worst in the calendar of vices of the individual man

The indictment of gambling safely includes the following counts

1 It creates no value There is no gain in it to one which does not mean exactly commensurate loss to another It is half brother to theft by this fact The man who robs me gives no equivalent. Two men sit down and agree to rob each other—that is the distinction and the resultant loss without any equivalent, is as real, though not at first so plain

2. This fact is evident from the frame of mind left in winner and loser. Winner has got something for nothing, and wants more by the very law of his being Loser has got nothing for something, and wants "something" back. One has the fever of unworked for gain, the other has the fever of a violated sense of absolute justice The unethical nature of the action begins to appear, as we can sometimes judge the character of the coming fruit of a tree by tasting its bark The fact at the outset, in a case of pure gambling, is that the transaction is not a "transaction" at all Transaction by any etymology, implies an exchange it is not plus and minus, but double plus In gambling we have a wrong—a contract with no equivalent. The inflamed state of mind in winner and loser are legitimate consequences Loser is driven to recover winner is intoxicated to pursue

3 Again chance magnetizes men In ordinary life reason meets reason, judgment crosses or mingles with judgment, an honest venture in a field of grain or stock of goods is based on knowledge and faith If I lose, I seldom fail of finding causes and generally gain experience if I succeed, success is deserved—and in proportion to honest toil, success is temperate

The gambler follows an irrational thing, the mystery of it infatuates or maddens him a hundred superstitions urge him to one more cast, one more stake. Witness, therefore, the threatened dethronement of reason when a game for money is on foot. That spirit which flings the shivering savage before his uncouth fetish of a shapeless stone, flings the gambler, now chilled, now feverish, before the fatal, shapeless block of chance

4 And now for a paradox. Since chance is an irrational divinity, the gambler by profession does not trust her He has marked cards He plunders heaven of the law of gravitation, and loads his dice In games like roulette and faro he plunders mathematics and knows from it, that the bank never loses in the final outcome—at least, a broken bank is anomalous, an exception so rare that it proves the rule He who wins rapidly comes to-morrow night to lose as rashly, and a great success is almost inevitably forerunner of recklessness and final ruin

A German countess at Hamburg once had extraordinary good fortune at rouge et noir One night toward the end of the season her winnings carried to 80 000 crowns She said, as she turned away "Well, I shall go home now I have had luck enough for one year But I did want to make it a hundred thousand' The banker heard her remark, turned to his desk a moment, then handed her a check for 20,000 crowns 'Permit me,' he said, "to gratify your slight wish it is due to the most successful player of the season" The countess went to her hotel, remained a day to collect her check, entered the Kursaal another evening, was rallied into another stake—in three nights had lost all

I say the professional gambler either repudiates chance for open fraud or suborns chance and human nature He elevates his craft above chance he assumes a method Judge for yourselves the color of his flag—it is black and a skull and crossbones are on it. He is a pirate pure and simple only dress him in broadcloth, with a white necktie, and call him a "banker or sporting gentleman"

GAMBLING BECOMES A MENTAL DISEASE

The votary of the gaming table is therefore whipped and lashed to ruin by intensest passions An outraged sense of justice, the fiercest unreasoning emulation, and above all, by the mystery and superstition of the lot. Other passions burn out or have a rotary motion Gaming, once set in the heart is a persistent fanaticism Men and women have been known to sit thirty six hours, without food or drink, watching the issue of their stakes Cardinal Mazarin died, playing cards for money Other vices are sporadic and fitful The drinker has pauses in his career, and transiently deadens his baleful thirst, but a gambler thinks all day of the evening—sleeps, eats, works with the game in his mind Therefore he is unfit for any responsible employ he talks and works like one who is half dreaming If he handles money in business, that money tempts him beyond his mortal endurance He will take it, meaning to his miserable infatuation, to return it, and turns up some day defaulter If he does not handle money in business directly, he will borrow on any and every pretext, and lie, right and left, up or down, for a hundred dollars fifty, for five—and for fifty cents! Do I draw an exceptional case? I venture the statement that two thirds of the visitors at noted gambling tables, or players at club houses have a place at some point on the downward road I have pictured Another third—no less infatuated—acquire an invincible self control and were not the subject of that self control so infamous, we might have our admiration challenged at the mastery over every nerve and heart beat, which some men achieve Their nerves turn to steel and their blood is all iron They win without another flash kindling the eye they lose perhaps everything without the flinch of a hair I think there are men who learned a self command at the gambling table like that which enabled Mucius Scævola to put his hand in flames till it shriveled, or St. Lawrence to smile on roasting coals, and call them a 'bed of roses Let us give the devil his due

HISTORICAL SKETCH OF LAWS AGAINST GAMBLING

It is therefore in the light of consequences that we indict the sin of gambling and not without reason does the public conscience expressed in statute law inhibit it. The Hindus allow no gambler to testify in court. The Talmud makes the same provision Greek law placed gaming on the same level with theft. The Roman senate forbade it, except during the orgies of the Saturnalia. The civil law disallowed all pernicious games, especially to the clergy who at one time might not play even chess. At common law, the tendency of condemnation began as early as 1388, but the discovery of the inherent evil of gaming was slow, so that it was disapproved only because it interfered with archery and nobler games. Then the Puritans attempted to discourage gambling by interesting people in horse shows. That was surely a drive at nature with a fork—out at the window and in at the key-hole! It is interesting to note that the principle of "public policy," which plays so important part in English law, was first asserted by the courts in their anxiety to avoid the enforcement of gambling contracts. Practically, the vice is now forbidden to the poor, and connived at in the rich, so that gambling is the "vice of the higher classes," and horse shows are the chief forms of it.

On the other hand, in Italy, where lotteries were the crying evil, affecting especially the poor, government made the moral blunder of absorbing all private drawings into one great state lottery, and now, so legalized, it is the universal indulgence of the millions, whose earnings, from a cent upward, go this way. The life-blood of the kingdom hotly courses every week about the public drawing of numbers, in which a jury of five public officials sit out on a balcony, while, infinite satire! an orphan child, blinded, takes four papers from a box. In Central Europe, as is well known, the great gambling spas have, one by one, been banished—and only Monaco, a toad stool kingdom allows a government game (There were eighty one suicides there last season) Further north, the vice is illicit, and burrows for life with counterfeiters and thieves.

In our own land there are statutes enough against definitive gambling, but it appears to be on the increase Less patent than when Mississippi steamboats did the whole western carrying trade, or the gold fever first raged in California, it has, we fear, more firmly gained an institutional character in all centers of life, in watering places and clubs It is the final and bottomless receptacle for all who live on excitement, at once the exponent and supply for the raging fever of perverted social life

Thus hostile in all its stages to human happiness, the very Cain of vices, whose hand is against every good thing—against reason, against honest work, against humanity—a sin which draws after it intemperance, lying, theft, murder and suicide, and which burns out only with life itself—is it not pertinent to the hour to denounce gambling in all its hideousness? I do not say there is no hope for one who has been an habitual visitor of the gaming table I do say his hope is such only that he must build a wall of fire about his steps, and through God obtain a changed heart. Nay, after that must live in fear and trembling all his days les temptation come on him again and the warning cannot be sounded too frequently against the incipient passion in whatever form it betrays itself I object and see a moral dereliction in the boys' game of marbles for 'keeps' or playing for each other's knives It is only a step to heads and tails with coppers and betting and deeper stakes and dawning passion Any stake or wager or bet is an evil, and threatens the evil chain Indeed, children and the young are worst sufferers, for imagination with them is so easily vitiated A New York friend tells me that the boys have graduated from marbles and bats, and occupying a vacant room in the produce exchange, are speculating in futures, with method enough in their puerile madness to ostracise a boy who does not meet his "gambling debts"

May I, in conclusion of this part of my theme, bespeak your deepest sympathy for the victims of this habit who are rushing like moths into the candle and your indignation at the snares spread for them? What more pitiful sight than that of a man toiling ten hours of the day to waste the hard earned wages upon his infatuation for chance? And our pity turns to horror when the innocent wife or child is involved—when we look down the vista of years and see the loss and shame or crime so certain to overcome the wretch who poisons peace of mind by his sin

TESTIMONIES

Judge Catron, of the U S court, says "Like other passions which agitate the great mass of the community, it lies dormant until once aroused, and then with the contagion and fury of a pestilence it sweeps morals, motives of honest pursuits and industry into the vortex of vice unhinges the principles of religion and common honesty the mind becomes ungovernable and is destroyed to all useful purposes chances for successful gambling alone are looked to for prosperity in life—even for the daily means in sustenance—trembling anxiety for success in lotteries at the faro bank or loo table, exclude all other thoughts." (2 Yer Tenn, 272.)

That is the jurist's calm statement There is a picture from a gifted pen, which may hold us still nearer the truth Of all the characters drawn by Charles Dickens, that of Little Nell is perhaps the sweetest. Do you remember the tavern scene? how with her old grandfather, after he has gambled away his home, wandering through the hard world, she is like an angel walking on earth with heaven ever about her steps? And sadder than all words can make it, seems that tavern night, when his feeble mind is roused at sight of the gaming table, when the slumbering infatuation rises, and seizing the dear child's little purse, he plays hour after hour, until its contents are lost, while she sits trembling, fearing for his reason, by his side When all is over, the old man keeps dealing hands to imaginary opponents 'See the curse of poverty, Nell," he said, pointing to the packs he had spread out upon the table, "if I could have gone on a little longer, only a little longer, the luck would have turned to my side Yes, it's as plain as the marks upon the cards see here, and there, and here again"

'Put them away," urged the child "try to forget them"

"Try to forget them? he rejoined, raising his haggard face to hers, and regarding her with an incredulous stare, 'to forget them? how are we ever to grow rich if I forget them? The child could only shake her head 'No, no, Nell" said the old man, patting her cheek, "they must not be forgotten we must make amends for this as soon as we can patience, patience, and we'll right thee yet, I promise thee lose to-day, win to-morrow, and nothing can be won without anxiety and care—nothing Come, I am ready!

Little Nell had sewed one gold piece in her dress, and with part of it pays for their lodgings and in the night she awoke, speechless with horror A figure was groping through the room, passed her bed, found her garments, fumbled at them and was gone Some midnight robber, then, was going through the house, thought she, and his steps along the hall pause where her grandfather sleeps. She follows, first as in a spell, then in wild, sudden terror, lest some one is attempting his life There was a light inside The figure was now within the chamber, and she, still dumb and almost senseless, stood looking on The bed had not been lain on, but was smooth and empty and at a table sat the old man himself, the only living creature there—his white face pinched and sharpened by the greediness which made his eyes preternaturally bright, counting the money of which his hands had robbed her

It is an awful picture, but true to nature An extreme if you choose, but not a rare one The only recorded gaming table in the bible was at the foot of the cross, and the stake was the robe of the crucified Jesus Fit type of a sin which can, more than any other, destroy the emotion of pity and shame, and puts a wolf's spirit, insensate and ferocious, in the place of a human soul!

LOTTERIES

We have spoken incidentally of lotteries All that has been said of gambling with stakes, over tables, is true of the lottery habit, and yet is so little apparent to superficial observation that we needs must devote a few moments to it. For it seems that multitudes of people, some of them otherwise well informed and conscientious, will buy tickets in raffles, or risk money in gift enterprises or upon a monumental game like the Louisiana state lottery This last-named fraud has gained such hold upon the people, especially of this coast, that the alarm should be sounded from every pulpit and school room and the laws be invoked with severest penalties against its agencies.

It would seem as though the average intelligence would instantly perceive the fallacy and inherent dishonesty of lotteries, but so far from this is the average intelligence, that most people, if you satisfy them that the drawing is honestly made, and the advertised prizes are paid over, will see no harm or fatuity in risking their own money, nor suspect the fraud and fallacy which are inseparable from any such schemes The task of enlightment is almost as hopeless as was the Jesuits attempt to teach the Guaranis of Brazil how to count The poor savages had no mental conception of number above 5 but as was naively observed by the good fathers counting was of manifold use in common life, and in the confessional absolutely indispensable in making a complete confession" They were therefore duly put through the numerals in Spanish, aloud from 1 to 1000 "But it is to be feared, says the historian, 'that it is washing at a blackamoor" Is it washing at a blackamoor, to attempt to persuade an average American of the harm in a lottery ticket, and that the purchaser is as dishonest as the seller?

We were speaking of raffles at my breakfast table. One of the children asked 'What's a raffle, father?' I began to answer by describing a turkey raffle "It's worth say $5, and the saloon keeper sells, say, fifty tickets at twenty five cents" "Yes" interrupted my 1[illegible] year old, "and it's unfair to everybody the man gets three times what his turkey's worth, and forty nine people get nothing for a quarter, and one man gets $5 worth for twenty five cents' Really, it does not take a strong intellect to follow out those propositions but in view of the common moral obtuseness, and failure at "counting,' I wonder whether my little girl is not on the way to be a great mathematician or professor of ethics! There is the lottery in a nutshell—a fair deal and an utter fraud You say, "But everyone knows the chance he runs of losing" But does he? For, this is just what we must deny Is not the average poverty of imagination the main capital in trade in a lottery? People can't or won't count. Not one man in ten thousand forms swift and adequate mental images. I say, for example, "something moved ten times as fast as a man walks." An off hand impression is, "that's as fast as a man runs" But the true mental image is a rapid express train, forty miles an hour The measure of the chances of loss in lottery investments is never taken by the investor—still less the moral measure of the dishonesty involved in a success Thus, one would say, "The more tickets I buy in a given scheme, the more likely I am to be a winner by the game" But if this is true a man had better buy the whole scheme what then! Seventy years ago a New England writer discovered this, and said, "There is not a more certain proposition in mathematics than that the more tickets you adventure upon, the more likely you are to be loser" Then the man who buys a single ticket is as low in mental caliber as the Guarani savage, who is stalled after counting 5

THE LOUISIANA LOTTERY

The Louisiana lottery exists and prospers, because of the 100,000 people who cannot count, or would steal if they dared Its history and operations ought to burn us with blushing Its first character began with a sentence that would make devils grin 'Whereas, many millions of dollars are being withdrawn and lost to the state by the sale of tickets in the Havana, Madrid, Kentucky and other lotteries, therefore, etc This charter was repealed in 1879, and in an appeal to the United States supreme court, the right of repeal was sustained The decision says 'The legislature which granted that charter had no authority to bargain away the police power of the state in the regulation of all matters affecting public health and good morals' The same court declares 'That lotteries are demoralizing in their effects, no matter how carefully regulated They are a species of gambling and wrong in their influences They disturb the checks and balances of a well ordered community Society built on such foundations would almost of necessity bring forth a population of speculators and gamblers, living on the expectation of what chance might award them from the accumulations of others In the face of such words, and the prohibiting constitution of twenty nine states the Louisiana state lottery was fastened by fiction and bribery upon the new constitution of 1880 The whole scheme as at present organized, was then newly foisted upon that unhappy state by Northern capitalists, as the base of operations to plunder every part of the Union According to its circular of August, 1883 it claimed to have paid $4 881 000 in prizes from January 1, 1879 to August 1, 1883 According to the same circular, the claim is made that 6 000 000 tickets are sold annually Therefore by their own showing they have gained $2[illegible],000—or allowing half the story of their sales, $1 000,000 as the fruit of their operations in four years and seven months (Vide supplement to Encyclopedia Brittanica," Art. Lottery) This, with no allowance for the unsold tickets, which are drawn each month and return prizes to the dealers What more sickening monument of the unwashable blackamoor than the spectacle of two Southern major generals supervising a monthly confidence game, which returns untold sums of stolen money to the enterprising corporation amid the plaudits, no doubt, of an admiring public and of the charitable societies that get a few poor crumbs!

SPECULATIVE MANIAS AND THE STOCK EXCHANGE

We fail, however, to comprehend the true dimensions of the gambling spirit, when we stop in the narrower forms of it, such as dice, pool rooms, betting rooms and lotteries These are vulgar, public-dispensary diseases, in comparison to the speculative mania which, under a thousand forms, betrays one character, and that the reverse of the rudimentary virtue of our civilization, the reverse of the industrial and commercial genius, with its elemental moral force I arrive now at so large a territory that it is difficult to reduce it to single points of view, but in general we may say that the mania is always like the lottery buyers—a poverty of imagination, an incapacity or indisposition to count

Then, there are local causes Within the lines of what is called legitimate ventures, the gambling spirit has been fostered by the ease with which credit could be obtained, and it is not in human nature to invest borrowed money as carefully as that which has been slowly earned It has been fostered by the facilities of investment in a rapidly growing country The "side shows," if we so may call them, lead business men to take money out of their vocation which they understand, and risk it in promising schemes, like town lots, mines cattle associations, which they do not understand Men are led to put their earnings here and there in small ventures "not too many eggs in one basket, you know, but with a kind of worship of chance It is a bet on the turn of the wheel And these bettings, through the brilliant successes of the few, become the trusting outlook of the many for fortune I imagine that the average young man entering business nowadays—a trade or industry—counts upon it, indeed, for a makeshift or humdrum livelihood but eagerly looks forward to the ventures he hopes to make on the speculative sea, for returning Argosies His patient earnings he will cast on the waters yes, and at the fascinating juncture his wife's and what he can borrow, and will wait with quite unscriptural confidence 'for the return after not many days" He gives a portion to seven and to eight, for he knows not what good shall be upon the earth and he misses it. He watches the wind that he may sow He gazes upon the clouds that he may reap And truly he knows not whether this shall prosper or that or whether both alike shall be—evil Like the gambler he learns to count other people's prizes—but forms no mental image of the blanks—the ventures that are failures The chief counting that is done is of how much I have lost by not happening to have done what this or that lucky man did—accounting that often ends in a more irrational venture, a blinder worship of the goddess Fortune Now if this is a true statement of the conditions of speculative mania, is it no easy to see the logical outcome—that it will organize itself or be met by organized instrumentalities to gratify and inflame the mania? The New York stock exchange is quite as much a result as a cause of speculation The corner bucket shop and curb stone broker are the straws showing where winds blow It is when the conditions are given in the unbalanced public mind, that the Chicago produce exchange or Pittsburg petroleum room begins to operate supply reaching out to demand We are not defending these institutions (I shall call them names enough presently, "whited sepulchers to wait by) but we are endeavoring to account for them out of social conditions—an unstable equilibrium—since thus only can we perceive the lines along which to work in aid of balance nor trust too much to mere manifestoes or heroic surgery There is in truth, a lesson to be delivered quite at home if we are to do our part in public conversation It concerns the temper and mental attitude from which as members of any community we personally speak and act. Horace Greeley's word, "It's the darkest hour in a man's life when he thinks to make one dollar two, without squarely earning it, is the gist of the matter The irrational countings which we ourselves do and take pleasure in those who do them are the insensible but real cause of the formidable social phenomenon which we call Wall street or Gouldism Wheresoever the carcass is there will the vultures be gathered together"

Space is failing me and I must forego those names I was going to call the stock and produce exchange Let me refer the reader to the last number of the Forum (October 1886) the article called "The Heart of Speculation All the evils that cluster around Monaco—and far more—are there described, with text and letter In the article cited, the stock exchange is characterized for what it is, a wagering house, a gambling octopus, a pander to the hungry vice of seeking something for nothing a base hypocrisy of buying and selling under which men bet their own or somebody else's money as upon the shufflings of cards and dice The stories of its magnificent wrecks are given—only the great gamesters surviving—a hideous survival The Drews, Jeromes Stockwells, Fisks and Woods are the more constant types of final ruin after having inflicted ruin The process is there described It ought to be in Sunday school primers as warning of how the 'deal' is made and stocks are watered, protected aided and burst There are the panic hours pictured and the real anarchists of the country photographed in their own rogue gallery It tells how "the broker gets both the money and the stocks, and the investor the lesson" Hear this cynical diagnosis, and judge if the very spirit of dice and lottery is not in it 'It is the theory of experienced operators, and undoubtedly a correct one, that the outside speculator rarely comes into the market until prices are up and he can look back and see what he has lost by not venturing earlier, and is never so ready to sell as when prices are down, and he can look back and see what he has lost by not getting out sooner"

What name opprobrious enough?

O thou invisible spirit of Chance, if thou hast no name to be known by, let me call thee Devil!

Well, let us learn how to count, and patiently wash away the 'blackamoor' part of us Above all let the child of this age be taught to follow sequences and doctrines of moral probabilism, better than did the child of the last The laws will creep up after a while, and draw the line at stock jobbing and produce exchanges, which they have advanced almost everywhere to lotteries, and which they are reaching out to hold towards drink trafficking over counters. Religion's task, and ours, who would identify religion and society, is in nurseries, schoolrooms and at the altar, to wave the angel sword of fire, and turn it every way to guard the tree of life.

FELTON'S STATEMENT.

He Says that the Lafton Affidavit is Absolutely False

Review of his Connection with Owen and Others—He was Never in Oregon—Insinuations Against Agent Shackleford

SAN FRANCISCO May 11

In the various discussions that have arisen on the subject of swamp lands in Oregon the name of Charles N Felton, now a representative in congress from the fifth district of California, has many times been spoken of and appeared in print For several years it has been known that he has held an interest in Oregon swamp lands, but just what that interest was and is, how it was acquired and how far he has been cognizant of certain alleged illegal transactions with regard to the securing of titles to these lands, has not been known It is, however, what the people of Oregon have desired to know, and it was with this thought in mind that your correspondent has sought to obtain from Mr Felton a statement of his connection with these lands The statement is given below After his words were taken down and written out, Mr Felton carefully read them, inserted certain dates and compared them with records on file They are the result of thought and deliberation and will therefore be the more eagerly read by people who have taken any interest or part in the discussion of the Oregon swamp land question Mr Felton states that if he were under oath and on a witness stand his testimony would be no different than the statement given below Following are his words

"I first met Mr H C Owen in the spring of 1877 in San Francisco He was introduced to me by a friend of mine Mr Hadsell I understood he came here with letters from several prominent citizens of Oregon one of them being from the late Senator Nesmith Owen desired to sell me a portion of his interest in the swamp lands that he had in Oregon He had with him the records of his application for lands, also a copy of the statute of the state of Oregon with reference to swamp lands

After an examination by my attorney I purchased an interest in the swamp lands, paying Owen for the same I subsequently purchased through him, I believe, some swamp land bonds issued by the state of Oregon which, as I remember, were subsequently used to pay for swamp lands

Sometime afterward Mr Owen becoming dissatisfied with the arrangement I offered to cancel the contract made with him, on condition of his repaying to me within six months the moneys advanced with interest, which he failed to do Later, Mr Owen had given a refusal of the swamp lands in the state of Oregon and bonded them to a party in Oregon, for the purpose of selling them to an English syndicate This, when done was without my knowledge, consent or approval The title to the swamp lands being legally in Mr Owen, he was enabled to do it without my knowledge or consent, and, after being done, it was impossible for me to take any action in the matter The time of the bond having expired, he gave them an extension of time in which to carry out their object or scheme of sale This, as I have before stated, was without my knowledge or consent.

"In the meantime Mr Owen had pledged the property to a bank in Oregon as security for the payment of quite a large amount of money borrowed from the bank I have been informed that it was through the aid of those who expected to purchase the lands under the bond that he was enabled to obtain the loan

"The parties again failed to take the land, and the extension ran out Then Mr Owen was called upon for the payment of the loan at the bank, just previous to which time the knowledge of his disposition of the property, that is, the pledging of it for money borrowed came to me Under the then existing circumstances, in order to perfect my interests in the property, I was compelled to redeem the property pledged by taking up the mortgage of the bank which I did in July 1880 However before doing this I had consulted my attorneys in Oregon and my attorney in San Francisco In fact my attorney in San Francisco visited Oregon for the purpose of looking into the matter They advised me that I could safely do the same, that the titles were good and could be legally transferred to me whereupon my attorney at Portland paid the mortgage, took the titles and had the property transferred in my name I then sent for Mr Owen and had an interview with him in San Francisco in which it was understood that the title to the property redeemed, as well as the title to all lands for which Mr Owen should thereafter obtain certificates should be vested in me and that I should have power to dispose of the same It was agreed that the property should not be disposed of to any foreign syndicate or to any person or persons as an entirety but that the policy should be to sell lands to the then occupants of them which, if my recollection serves me correctly and I think it does, has been done in every instance up to the present and will be done in the future We considered this not only good policy but just Since that time I have advanced money for the payment for certificates, as I agreed to do, as they were issued by the state of Oregon Mr R V Ankeny is a man whom I never saw, never had any business relations with whatsoever The same applies to Mr H C Perkins I never was in Oregon in my life To the best of my recollection I first met Mr Barnhardt in San Francisco in the latter part of the year 1883 or the early part of the year 1884, when he was employed for the purpose of disposing of these lands It is through his advice that the sales of these lands have thus far been made I have met Mr Barnhardt only on two or three occasions since, and then only in connection with the negotiations of these sales In regard to Mr Barnhardt I will here state, that from what I have heard of him from others and from the impression he produced upon me I believe him to be not only an able but an honest man

With regard to the selection on the part of the government and state agents of land other than swamp land, I have no knowledge I was of the opinion that the only lands we were entitled to were swamp lands I further know that we have no intention or desire of acquiring anything but swamp lands, believing that any lands other than swamp lands in that country were without value, or practically so we therefore had no desire to purchase them On the other hand, for obvious reasons, we were desirous of obtaining a title to the swamp land to which we were entitled as expeditiously as possible, and would not knowingly have jeopardized our interests by including any lands other than swamp lands to which we were not entitled and which we did not desire

I have heard lately of charges of corruption and conspiracy being made against Mr Owen, Mr Ankeny and Mr Perkins and others, with an attempt to include myself in the matter I have no knowledge of the acts of those gentlemen or what they may or may not have done I am unable to see, however why they should have desired to procure titles to lands other than swamp for the reasons before given I know that it was not desired by myself nor was I a party to it in any way, shape or manner It has been rumored that money has been used with a view to including lands other than swamp in the report of the agents So far as I know this is not true

Under the circumstances you can imagine my surprise when I was informed in Washington that in the interior department there were reports by a special agent or government detective, charging me with fraud, corruption and conspiracy with reference to these swamp lands, and recommending me, with others, for indictment and not only this, but those connected with this alleged conspiracy including myself, were powerful, wealthy and influential men that it would be very difficult for the law to have its course intimating that we were capable of using means to corrupt the channels of justice I am not however, much surprised at these remarkable charges when I consider the trip of this agent to San Francisco the circumstances under which it was made and certain events that transpired while he was in San Francisco He came to San Francisco in the latter part of September 1886 leaving Portland by steamer, and as I am informed, his name not appearing on the list of passengers of said steamer his expenses being paid by others under questionable circumstances On June 5 1886 just a few months prior to this trip the following affidavit was procured by and sworn to before him in Oregon and was presumably in his possession during his stay in San Francisco in September and October While here he met and became well acquainted with my attorney He was also during this visit much in the company of an attorney from Lakeview, Oregon, who was acquainted with me and who was thoroughly conversant with these swamp land matters. On October 1 1886, he, soon after his return to Oregon made his report to Commissioner Sparks including this affidavit in said report, subsequently, for reasons of his own, he temporarily withdrew this affidavit and returned it February 21, 1887, with a statement of his own that he was satisfied that the statements of the affidavit were substantially correct. When you consider that he had this affidavit in his possession while he was in San Francisco, an affidavit full of statements so easy of refutation, is it not remarkable that he should not have endeavored to ascertain from either of these attorneys the truth of these statements? This Oregon attorney, better than any one else, could have given him proof of the falsehoods in this affidavit. He and this attorney had been much together in Oregon prior to this San Francisco trip And yet with every opportunity of satisfying himself as to whether said affidavit was true or not, he availed himself of none but forwarded it to Washington, subsequently withdrew it, and lately returned it with the indorsement that he was satisfied of its truthfulness.

"The following is that portion of the affidavit to which I specially refer Said affidavit is dated at Lakeview, June 5 1886 It reads thus

"'Thomas N Lafton, of Drews valley, in the county of Lake, state of Oregon being duly sworn, on oath says that he has resided in said county and state continuously since the year 1872 that he well knows Henry C Owen and Charles N Felton, of San Francisco, Cal and Rollin V Ankeny, late special agent of the general land office, appointed to inspect the lands claimed by the state of Oregon as swamp and overflowed under the swamp land act of 1860 Affiant also well knows Henry C Perkins of Eugene City, Or deputy U S surveyor and agent of the state of Oregon to select swamp and overflowed lands, and also the agent of the said Owen and Felton to make selections of alleged swamp and overflowed lands in said state of Oregon under the act aforesaid that about the years 1878 or 1879 the exact date I cannot state, said Owen, Felton and Perkins came to the house of affiant in Lakeview sometime in the fall or latter part of the summer of either the year 1878 or 1879 while they were engaged in locating the alleged swamp and overflowed lands Said Perkins first came to affiant and urged affiant to go with the said Owen and Felton to aid in the survey and selection of the lands aforesaid, and shortly thereafter the said Henry C Owen came to affiant and urged affiant to go along with their party, stating that affiant being familiar with the corners and character of the lands desired, could be of great service to them Affiant thereupon agreed upon a compensation of $[illegible] per diem and went with said party through Goose Lake valley Said Felton was the moneyed man of the party and paid the bills He settled with me'

I repeat I never was in Oregon never saw this man Lafton, never was at his house never engaged him to assist me in locating, inspecting any swamp lands never paid him a dollar never settled with him and never knew who was employed The whole thing is totally false so far as I am concerned and the agent could have easily satisfied himself if he had desired that such was the case

FROM MRS DUNIWAY

Municipal Suffrage in Kansas—How the Women Vote—Suggestions about a Woman's Boarding House

PORTLAND, May 14

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Just on the eve of my proposed departure for a summer's jaunt among the mines, mountains and cattle ranches of the middle West, and while my brain is busy with the nebula of that promised letter to your valuable columns concerning the "Woman's Industrial Union" of this city, there comes to me a perfect avalanche of selections from Kansas journals relative to the workings of municipal suffrage for women in that state, which I had sharply criticised in THE OREGONIAN some little time ago, without thinking of arousing a controversy with Kansas women or newspapers And, as with all my heart I believe, first, last and all the time in free speech, free press and free people, I respectfully submit some of them to you for republication and heartily wish I might consider myself vanquished

But, when the good ladies of Kansas, who have with such praiseworthy endeavor gathered these encomiums together shall have had a few elections under the restricted ballots which their local press now so lavishly praises and when they shall have awakened some fine morning, as they almost surely will, to find that the "supreme court, which is in nowise dependent upon their limited suffrages for place or power, has therefore ruled them out with impunity, they will discover, as did the women of Washington territory, who undertook against their leaders protests to carry too much sail for their ballast and upset their boat, that what the average woman doesn't know about the undertow of masculine politics would make a very large book. If ever women learn to carry the same diplomatic sagacity to the ballot boxes that they exercise in their homes, then and not till then, will partial suffrage cease to be a perilous experiment reacting upon and retarding the exercise of full, free suffrage and postponing it indefinitely But here are a few of the selections named for which the Kansas ladies are asking THE OREGONIAN'S space as an offset to its former criticisms The entire list would occupy a full page of the paper, so I am compelled to omit the rest

The ladies voted in fine shape and showed their appreciation of their privilege —Stanton Leader

Municipal suffrage for females in Kansas has resulted in much good at this election The 'experiment' has proved a success —Winchester Argus

After all we don't see but that the women vote just as easily as men, and more so With their ballots all ready to cast, they walk up to the voting place, announce their name deposit their ballots and quietly walk away leaving all the unnecessary discussion on election day to the men —Independence Tribune

It seemed on election day, that women had always voted There was nothing very strange The only thing noticeable was carriages running all over the city loaded with lady voters going to the polls to cast their first ballot for somebody besides a school officer The result of the women's voting is satisfactory —Minneapolis Messenger

A goodly number of ladies have gone to the polls and voted We hear of no homes disrupted, of no insults having been offered, of no unladylike performances of no verification of the hundred ills predicted by the croakers The babies have been properly cared for the meals have been furnished regularly every household duty has been performed satisfactorily, and the ceaseless round of domestic cares goes on in its accustomed channel —Topeka Commonwealth

Never was there more perfect order and general good humor maintained at an election than prevailed throughout the entire day yesterday, at the polls in this city Every male voter seemed to do his utmost to make things pleasant for the ladies when they came to deposit their ballots Those who drove to the polls in carriages were politely assisted to alight and conducted to the ballot box Pleasantries were indulged in by those who were acquainted, and the ladies seemed to enjoy the fun —Wellington Postal Card

The Sun is just as much opposed to the principle of woman suffrage as we ever were but we glory in the sentiments expressed by the ladies who demonstrated on Monday that they considered it a duty that they owed society and good government to keep the balance of power out of the hands of illiterate and irresponsible females Many high minded and good women who had not thought of voting before did so on that account, and they are to be highly commended for their actions whether their votes were cast for one or the other of the [illegible] candidates —Coffeyville Sun

The city election on Monday was the most quiet in the history of Burlingame There was not the faintest suspicion of excitement throughout the day There was little or no ticket peddling, and no strife whatever among the candidates or their friends A very light vote was polled the total being only [illegible] Of this number [illegible] were women and [illegible] men There are [illegible] male voters so it seems [illegible] of the [illegible] to stay at home and give the women a chance —Osage Chronicle

The election yesterday was one of the cleanest and most orderly ever held in the city The fifty foot clause of the new law was strictly enforced, and at no time during the day was there a noisy crowd at the polls The ladies came up in carriages and hurried deposited their ballots and drove away, without exciting undue comment, while others walked up free from stare and criticism and did the same The sellers of cheap cigars and the peddler of tickets were not there Our voting places, now and henceforth—at least during municipal elections—are places of decency and decorum —Lawrence Tribune

The city election passed off with unusual little excitement notwithstanding that a great deal of earnest work was done There were two tickets in the field the first called the citizens ticket, being known as the anti billiard hall ticket the second was named the people's ticket, and did not make any declaration in regard to billiard halls The ladies took a lively interest, and, when the votes were counted, the citizens', or anti billiard hall, ticket, was found to be elected by a large majority Of the [illegible] votes cast [illegible] were by women —Yates Center News.

The city elections this year have been possessed of more than usual interest because of the new element introduced by the last suffrage law In Pleasanton the election was very quiet, and a light vote was polled because there was but one ticket in the field Fifty-four women voted and more would have done so had there been any opposition to the citizens' ticket As no soliciting was done, it may fairly be considered that this day's work has demonstrated the fact that the women of Pleasanton want to vote And the arguments of the opponents of woman suffrage were plainly disproved, for this vote represented the leaders in society, the property owners, and the intelligent and educated women generally, and not the class that it has been urged would lead at the polls.—Pleasanton Observer.

Although this campaign has been one of the most exciting and bitter in the history of the city, the presence of the ladies at the polls was the signal for orderly conduct, and wherever they made their appearance they were accorded universal consideration and respect. The attack of the Whisky Alliance upon Mrs Gougar has been the one blemish in this campaign, as far as the participation of ladies in it is concerned, and even that was not the fault of the Democratic party at large, but only the work of a few ruffians and self constituted leaders As a result of the experience of female enfranchisement, the cause gained many converts here, yesterday, among the better class of our citizens—men who have been life long opponents to the movement The Times takes great pleasure in being the first to extend its congratulations to the friends and advocates of female suffrage —Leavenworth Times

We question whether the most ardent supporter of woman's suffrage was not taken aback by what could be seen at the polls in this city Monday afternoon During that time nearly two hundred women voted, a large number of them bringing their votes with them, folded and out of sight, simply warding off all attempts at electioneering by saying that they had their ticket, and walking quietly to the box and depositing their votes as if they had done the same at least semi annually all their lives It was interesting to see the open eyed wonder with which the row of men seated on the bench in front of the livery stable on the opposite corner viewed this new political element which was so absolutely unapproachable by them that they gave up trying to influence it As the throng of ladies became denser the faces of the watchers became longer and about 5 o'clock the front of that stable looked more like a row of exclamation points than anything else Meanwhile the ladies smiled and voted and the exclamation points could do no better than to exclaim and curse the new law

There was one feature of the occasion which was delightful—that in several cases the father and mother walked in leading between them the little child which the mother could not leave at home One or two ladies brought their babies in their arms with an air of proud but tender motherhood, expressing their inexorable wish regarding the atmosphere in which the child should grow up Many remarked that to go with the mother to the polls year after year—to urge that it had not been thought of by our statesmen, with all their wisdom—was to be the best education for boys and girls for their duties in the future Altogether, there are less opponents of woman suffrage in Kansas to day than there ever have been since the early settlement of the state

Even opponents of equal suffrage admit that they have never seen an election to compare with that of last Monday Order, absolute sobriety and the utmost decorum prevailed

It was a wonder to most of our citizens, and a novel spectacle to all A new element had entered into municipal politics, and enemies to law and order could readily see the handwriting on the wall No manager of machines no shrewd manipulator of massed votes, but could plainly see the futility of placing a known violator of law upon his ticket, and more than one man upon election day found he had a political foe in his own household but it was impossible to be very very combative with such a cheery pleasant little foe, who had supper waiting for him, and a beaming smile born of conscious rectitude and duty well performed, with which to greet him when he came home And, contrary to expectation the baby was not in convulsions, nor the house in frantic disorder, even if she had spent half an hour in discharging her duty as a wife mother and citizen at the polls.

To say the "experiment" was proved a success falls short of what the occasion demands Strangers from other states were with us and looked on at first with skeptical curiosity, which grew, as the voting progressed into unbounded astonishment, and finally developed into settled conviction of its perfect propriety Ladies entered the hall in twos and threes with their husbands or alone voted, and withdrew in the utmost quiet, and without a syllable of disrespect or a sign of disapprobation publicly expressed during the entire day

Possibly, in a state of less progressive people, this would not be so but here in Kansas we emphatically pronounce the participation of women in the municipal election a complete and unqualified success —Sabetha Herald

Prominent among the many phases of the many sided upheaval known latterly as the "woman movement" is the disposition shown by women of the refined and educated classes to emerge from old time seclusion and bestir themselves to assist their less fortunate sisters to positions of self dependence and its accompanying reward of peace and plenty

Victor Hugo said "Man has been the problem of the eighteenth century woman is the problem of the nineteenth century The woman's movement is the endeavor to win equality before the law freedom from the bondage of custom access to the opportunity of self support intellectual education the just rights of person and property

Well I know the disadvantages under which working women labor who seek employment in the cities and not a few of the ladies of Portland have emphatically expressed their [illegible] of the extra pains taken by philanthropists of both sexes to secure help for young men while young women are left comparatively [illegible] But hitherto there has been little [illegible] effort to make things better, [illegible] because women were [illegible] and willing to [illegible] as [illegible], until recently they seemed to lack the essentials of organization without which no success is possible There is, however, one obstacle in the way of the success of the proposed women's boarding house which can be obviated, though no amount of systematic organization can overcome it. The boarding house must be as free to its inmates as the ordinary well conducted hotel, or your average working woman will not patronize it A T Stewart's boarding house for women was a splendid failure, for the simple reason that whoso entered there left the freedom of home behind The inmates were placed under rigid rules of surveillance to which the girls of the period will no submit any more readily than the average man Just where and how to draw the line between system and freedom is the one puzzle in this new venture which will prove far more difficult of solution than even its financial problems Once obviate this difficulty and the way is plain There must be system or there will soon be chaos but there must also be the freedom of home or there will soon be no inmates These liberties can only be harmonized in my opinion by assigning the honor to some capable and successful woman whose character is of course above reproach and who has had sufficient experience as a landlady to know how to keep a hotel Such a woman, if allowed sufficient elbow room will have a rare opportunity to show the latent power of the sex as home makers on a big scale But if monkish rules are laid down if gentlemen in short, are to be kept from calling upon girls at the boarding house parlors as freely as at their homes depend upon it boarders will remain away [illegible] A home with no men about it is just as incomplete and unsatisfactory a abode for women as a home would be for men from which women are excluded These, in brief are the suggestions I have been repeatedly asked to place before the readers of our favorite journal within the past fortnight by ladies of the city who, for reasons best known to themselves, and perhaps their husbands also, are inclined to shirk the responsibility of expressing what may prove an unpalatable truth Hoping these suggestions may be received by the estimable board of managers in the kindly spirit in which they are given I remain now and always an advocate of unity, equality and harmony between the sexes

MONDAY, May 16.

The Canadian Pacific is securing large quantities of east bound freight at San Francisco. On Friday last the Walla Walla cleared for Port Moody with 1,600,000 lbs sugar in equal quantities for Omaha, St. Joseph and Kansas City, 116,058 lbs wool for Boston, and a lot of hides, leather, nutmegs, etc., for New York.

A stronger coffee market is reported from San Francisco, sellers having further advanced demands for Central American.

The supply of wheat in sight in the United States (exclusive of California and Oregon) and Canada as given by telegraph May 16 as 44,458,103 bushels, a decrease for a week of 1,010,000 bushels.

Str Willamette Valley, from Yaquina Bay, at San Francisco 12th inst. landed 1264 sks wheat, 480 sks oats, 420 sks barley, 10 cs eggs, 12 rls leather, 2 bdls skins, 6 bdls hides.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 48 hours: Include 1735 ctls wheat, 1720 bbls flour, 830 ctls oats, 206 ctls [illegible], 1384 sks potatoes, 32,060 lbs hides, 12 cs butter, 300 cs eggs, 210 lbs hops, 57 pkgs dried fruit, 148 sheep, 55 cattle.

EXPORTS—To San Francisco per str State of California included 12,094 ctls wheat, 3769 hf sks flour, 2145 ctls oats, 155 sks potatoes, 11 rls leather, 26 bxs dried apples, 40 sks dried prunes, 2 cs cascara, 4 cs flannels, 154 sks gluestock, 168 dry hides, 31 bdls deerskins, 82 bls pelts, 23 csks oil, 100 bdls laths, 7 coops chickens, $3048 treasure.

FREIGHTS—The Br iron ship Netherby arrived to-day. She is added to the open list. No business of any kind reported to-day. Handy iron at San Francisco gets a rather better rate than did last charters.

WHEAT—Receipts light, especially of valley. The market presents hardly anything of interest. Valley is quoted at about $1 68½, while Walla Walla is given the wide range of $1 35@1 40. Actual business would probably be at $1 37½ or a shade better. Advices to-day are generally of good tenor, but the new week opens with quiet markets.

FLOUR—Standards quoted on basis of $4 60. Market firm. Free steamer shipments.

OATS—Steamer shipments free and there is some yet on wharf. Market slow and without change.

POTATOES—Very few out by steamer. Receipts are light and buyers do not care to take hold.

CHICKENS—Consignments closed out at $4 late Saturday. Supplies have increased.

EGGS—Quoted down to 16c to-day. Stocks large in most directions and sellers anxious.

WOOL—Fair movement with some accumulation here. The extreme for any grade is stated to be 16c while for fair to good 15@16c is paid at interior points from which freight here is ½@¾c. Rates east are now higher than from San Francisco by at least ½c and a reduction is looked for. Plenty of buyers all over the country, but they are not bidding up to any extent.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, May 16.—The week opened on the stock exchange with a quiet market in which a bullish sentiment predominated. MARK LANE REVIEW.

LONDON, May 16.—The Mark Lane Express, in its review of the British grain trade during the past week, says: English wheat is firm. Sales during the week were 47,572 quarters, at 33s 6d, against 67,127 quarters, at 31s 11d, during the corresponding period last year. The wheat crops are making a fast and healthy growth. The pulse crop is in excellent form. Foreign wheat is quiet, and values are weakening, under fears that the Chicago "wheat corner" will collapse and throw immense consignments on the English markets for cash realizing. The English flour trade is now here. Some of the largest millers are closing and becoming agents for American flour, because they cannot grind wheat at a profit in competition with American flour. The English milling industry is threatened with extinction. Eleven cargoes of wheat arrived, five cargoes were withdrawn and five remained. At to-day's market wheat was quiet. Sellers asked 5d advance, but buyers rarely responded. Flour was steady. Corn was weaker. Egyptian beans were 6d cheaper. Barley and oats were steady.

BEERBOHM.

LIVERPOOL, May 16.—Spot wheat, slow. Farmers' deliveries of wheat past week, 47,000 qrs., at an average price of 33s 6d, against 60,000 qrs. at 33s 3d the preceding week. 3 P. M.—Wheat, demand improving. Futures, firm. No. 1 California, May, 8s 1½d; June, 8s 2¼d; July, 8s 2½d.

That Tired Feeling

Is so general at this season that every one knows what is meant by the expression. A change of season, of climate, or of life, has such a depressing effect upon the body that one feels all tired out, almost completely prostrated, the appetite is lost, and there is no ambition to do anything. The whole tendency of the system is downward. In this condition Hood's Sarsaparilla is just the medicine needed. It purifies the blood, sharpens the appetite, overcomes the tired feeling, and invigorates every function in the body. Try it.

"We all like Hood's Sarsaparilla, it is so strengthening." LIZZIE BALFOUR, Auburn, R. I.

The Weak Made Strong.

"I never took any medicine that did me so much good in so short a time as Hood's Sarsaparilla. I was very much run down, had no strength, no energy, and felt very tired all the time. I commenced taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had used one bottle felt like a different person. That extreme tired feeling has gone, my appetite returned, and it toned me up generally. My brother and sister have also received great benefit from it." CLARA W. PHELPS, Shirley, Mass.

"I suffered considerably, being for nearly a year troubled with indigestion. I am now on my fourth bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and never felt better in my life. It has made a new man of me." H. M. HILLMAN, Des Plaines Street Police Station, Chicago, Ill.

BLACK WOLF!

Or Black Leprosy, is a disease which is considered incurable, but it has yielded to the curative properties of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC—now known all over the world as S. S. S. Mrs. Bailey, of West Somerville, Mass., near Boston, was attacked several years ago with this hideous black eruption, and was treated by the best medical talent, who could only say that the disease was a species of and consequently incurable. It is impossible to describe her sufferings. Her body from the crown of her head to the soles of her feet was a mass of decay, masses of flesh rotting off and leaving great cavities. Her fingers festered and three or four nails dropped off at one time. Her limbs contracted by the fearful ulceration, and for several years she did not leave her bed. Her weight was reduced from 125 to 60 lbs. Perhaps some faint idea of her condition can be gleaned from the fact that three pounds of Cosmoline or ointment were used per week in dressing her sores. Finally the physicians acknowledged their defeat by this Black Wolf, and commended the sufferer to her all-wise Creator.

Her husband hearing wonderful reports of the use of SWIFT'S SPECIFIC (S. S. S.), prevailed on her to try it as a last resort. She began its use under protest, but soon found that her system was being relieved of the poison, as the sores assumed a red and healthy color, as though the blood was becoming pure and active. Mrs. Bailey continued the S. S. S. until last February; every sore was healed; she discarded chair and crutches, and was for the first time in twelve years a well woman. Her husband, Mr. C. A. Bailey, is in business at 17½ Blackstone Street, Boston, and will take pleasure in giving the details of this wonderful cure. Send to us for Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases, mailed free.

SELECTING TEACHERS.

The School Board Hold Two Secret Sessions Yesterday.

How the Capability of Applicants is Inquired into and their Past Record Investigated, the Principals as Witnesses.

At the last meeting of the Board of School Directors the time for holding the annual election of principals and teachers of the public schools of Portland was fixed for May 20. This date is earlier than these elections are usually held, but that time was designated for the reason that Mr. D. P Thompson, one of the members of the board, expects to leave next week for an extended trip through Europe. It was desirable to elect the teachers before his departure, and so next Friday was fixed as the date. Subsequently Mr Wm M. Ladd, another member of the board, was appointed by Mr. Donald Macleay, president of the board of trade, one of the three persons who are to visit Cœur d'Alene mines. As Mr Ladd is to leave with the other two members of the committee—Messrs Phillip C. Schuyler and Wm Kapus—in a few days, and cannot return in time to attend the annual meeting, the board of school directors finally concluded to hold the election Monday and Tuesday of the present week in order to accommodate all.

There are ninety persons to be elected to positions in the public schools, and as the task of selecting so large a number is no small and insignificant one, it was determined at the last meeting to take two days in which to accomplish the work This would afford the board ample time in which to institute a thorough and impartial examination into the qualifications of all applicants, and to make judicious selections As nearly all the present corps of teachers are candidates for re-election, the board have adopted a rule by which the question of fitness, compatability, adaptation, qualifications, etc., of each applicant could be put to a somewhat crucial, but, at the same time, fair and just test To accomplish this work, the board commenced its labors yesterday afternoon at 3 30 o'clock The process was rather of an inquisitorial character The members of the board resolved themselves into a sort of star chamber and proceeded to examine each principal separately. A list of the applicants, both those seeking re-election and new candidates, was called off and the principal interrogated pointedly as to the matter of qualification. As near as could be learned the questions were substantially plied in the following manner

Do you think this person is qualified?

Do you think he or she ought to be chosen as a teacher"

How would you like to have this person selected for another year

What is your personal opinion of this applicant etc

Under this rigid cross-examination the principal was required to give a direct reply, and to express freely an opinion. If objections were made by the principal to any applicant or applicants such principal was required to offer some good and valid reason for the same.

Director Dodd remarked to a reporter yesterday afternoon that it was a sort of inquisition he admitted, then he added· "But you know it is the best way to proceed. We cannot handle the matter with gloves. The board's purpose is to select the very best and most competent teachers. We want to get right down and thoroughly and impartially sift the matter to the bottom. We have a record or report of the year of every teacher in the public schools. If there have been errors, and faults, and inefficient work, we wish to know it, it is our duty to know it. By the plan we have adopted we can get at this matter properly We can get the unbiased opinion and unprejudiced judgment of the teachers one as to the other. Every objection made must be supported by facts and reasons and no opposition will have any weight with the members of the board which is unsupported, except by mere personal assertions. In this way," said Mr. Dodd, "the board can deal justly with all, and at the same time act for the best interests of the schools. An opportunity will be afforded any teacher to explain any charges of carelessness, error, omission, etc. Our purpose is to deal fairly with all, condemn no one without proper hearing and investigation, and at the same time secure the best teachers. It is for this purpose that we intend to go into the star chamber business on a small scale," said Mr. Dodd, smiling. "Of course no one will be admitted except the person whose opinion and views are sought for."

These reports of the principals were received yesterday afternoon at the meeting and, it is supposed, were duly considered and acted upon. As the "gentlemen reporters" were not admitted nothing very definite can be written on the subject. Last evening at 8 o'clock the board held an adjourned meeting, which, like its predecessor, was strictly of a star chamber character No one was permitted to be present except the board of directors. At a late hour last evening a reporter called at the High school building and had a brief interview with one of the directors out in the hallway at that hour—midnight—the board was proceeding slowly with the election of teachers. The board adjourned at a late hour without completing the list. To-day and this evening the educational corps will probably be completed.

When the committee appointed by the board of trade to solicit funds for the widows and orphans of Nanaimo made their rounds last week it happened that quite a number of gentlemen were not in their places of business, and as the committee could not go over the ground twice, these were skipped. A PORTLANDER IN LUCK

WM CURRIER SELLS AN OLD PIECE OF MINING PROPERTY FOR $115,000

About ten years ago Wm Currier, together with several others, interested himself in a mine in Humboldt county, Nevada. The mine, although said to be a good one, did not pay those who invested in it anything, numerous assessments instead of dividends being declared. Mr Currier however, stuck to it, and as his associates dropped out he bid in their stock and kept doing this until he became the principal stockholder in the mine But Mr Currier has struck a bonanza as the following taken from yesterday's Evening Telegram will show·

Some months since the Anglo-Californian bank of San Francisco, introduced to Mr Currier the representative of a wealthy London syndicate sent to this coast to invest in mineral lands In company with Mr. Currier he visited Humboldt county, and after a thorough inspection of the property the London agent offered $150,000 for it. Mr Currier accepted the proposal, a bond was perfected, and the cash is to be paid some time next August. Mr. Currier's share of the sale will amount, in round figures, to $115,000

To a representative of the Telegram Mr Currier stated he is confident that the property is worth more than he is to receive for it, as millions may be taken out of it, but he is getting along in years, and at his age doesn't care to be saddled with the care and worry attendant upon developing mines

While the mine was in process of development a block of 7000 shares of the stock became delinquent on a five cent assessment, and Mr Currier wishing one of his friends to make a raise out of it, advised him to take it in The friend did so, but when the second assessment of ten cents per share was levied, a short time before the sale, Mr Currier's friend did not respond and the former took in the stock. No sooner did the ex holder of the 7000 shares hear that the property had been sold for $150,000 than he became anxious to "come to time," but it was too late Mr. Currier advised him to pay the assessment ere it became delinquent, but he would no more of it, but the moment he heard of the appreciation in value of his property, he wanted a finger in the pie

RUNAWAY

A FARMER SERIOUSLY INJURED BY BEING DRAGGED THROUGH THE STREETS

About 10 o'clock yesterday morning William Hellenan, a farmer living near Oswego, came near losing his life in the vicinity of the Hood street bridge He was driving a pair of lively young colts to the city and they became unmanageable The harder the farmer pulled on the reins the more difficult it became for him to control the animals, and eventually he was pulled from his seat in the wagon. The colts then took to their heels and madly dashed toward the northern part of this city. Mr. Hellenan was dragged a considerable distance, and when picked up by Mr G W Foss, the livery stable keeper, he was unconscious Mr Foss took the inanimate form into his buggy and conveyed it to Dr Glitner's office Restoratives were applied to the man and his numerous wounds dressed He had a gash three inches long on the top of his head his throat was slashed almost from ear to ear, which was probably done by being caught in the trace hooks, his chin was cut open, as well as one of his hands fearfully lacerated, besides that his right shoulder was dislocated, and in fact there is scarcely a spot about the unfortunate man that is not more or less hurt.

With him there were two lads in the wagon, one aged about 19 years and the other 9 years, both of whom were thrown out in the road, but escaped without a scratch The wagon was broken into smithereens. How the man escaped instant death is a miracle. However, some of his injuries are very serious.

A BIG COMMISSION SUIT

THE CASE OF J. H. FISK AGAINST D. V. B HENARIE TO BE TRIED OVER AGAIN

A mandate has been received in state circuit court department number one from the supreme court in the case of J. H. Fisk vs D V B Henarie. Fisk sued Henarie in the state circuit court for $60,000 commission for finding a purchaser for The Dalles military wagon road land grant. The case was tried before Judge Smith and a jury and resulted in a verdict in favor of Fisk for the full amount.

Three motions were then submitted to the court, one for judgment on the verdict, one for judgment notwithstanding the verdict and a new trial. Judge Smith sustained the motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict and rendered judgment for the defendant. Fisk then appealed to the supreme court and the supreme court sent the case back to the state circuit court for further hearing

Judge Shattuck, who had assumed the bench, heard and allowed the motion for a new trial. This was appealed to the supreme court The mandate received and entered yesterday dismisses the appeal, thus sustaining Judge Shattuck. The case will consequently be tried over again

FOR SPRINKLING THE WHITE HOUSE ROAD.

THE HAT TO BE PASSED TO-DAY FOR MONEY TO MEET THE EXPENSE.

Sunday's OREGONIAN contains an article on the subject of the desirability and necessity of Portland having a suitable drive, also what the members of the Multnomah Driving Park Association proposed doing in the way of placing the old macadam road in good condition, providing the citizens gave any substantial aid and encouragement. It is well known that the county authorities have been quite liberal in the expenditure of money in making needed repairs to the White House road. Since the organization of the association some more repairs have been made, and now the road is said to be in very good condition for travel. During the dry season the road becomes very dusty, and the winds which prevail blow great clouds to and fro, and leave the old macadam clear. To prevent this and to render travel along the road at all tolerable, it is necessary to keep the dust well laid by sprinkling

Reference was made in the article to the effort which was made at the last meeting of the water committee to secure the privilege of securing a supply of water to be used for that purpose Nothing definite was determined upon, but some understanding will be arrived at probably at the next meeting of the committee Very likely the driving association will be furnished water at cost price or at a small advance This matter has been under consideration by the members of the association, and it is the purpose of the members of that organization to maintain a first-class drive Already the association has expended considerable money in carrying forward their original purpose. It is now proposed to call on the citizens for some assistance, to enable the project to be carried to a successful consummation Several gentlemen have been selected by the association to wait upon the citizens and solicit funds with which to defray the expenses of keeping the White House road well sprinkled during the coming season Water can no doubt be obtained cheaply, and the association will secure sprinkling carts All the association asks is that the citizens will assist in paying for the water To-day the following persons will commence soliciting for contributions H C Leonard, Arthur Wilson, W B King, P J Mann, E S Rothchild, and T J Colbert The committee wish it understood that every person who contributes to the "water fund," becomes a member of the association Thus it will be seen that this is a matter in which the public is interested The road is free to all. Without being kept sprinkled it can not be traveled with pleasure and comfort, and now every tax payer and every person who expects to drive out to the White House is expected to contribute something

THAT FURNITURE TRANSACTION

ALL THE CRIMINAL CHARGES DISMISSED AND AN ATTACHMENT SUIT BEGUN

Yesterday afternoon justice Tuttle passed on the cases of J Holcberg, D and S Freidman and M. Brilliant, the furniture dealers, who sold W H Warren $221 worth of furniture Warren, after buying and paying for the furniture, had to get out a search warrant to obtain possession of it. This proceeding had to be had on account of a partnership row between Brilliant and the Freidmans A general squabble followed, resulting in the bringing of criminal actions by each of the parties against the other

Justice Tuttle yesterday dismissed all these criminal actions, but held that the dismissal did not bar Warren from instituting civil proceedings for the recovery of furniture, which was ordered returned to the Freidman et al. Warren immediately brought suit in the justice court of East Portland, and as the Freidman's were about to take the furniture in accordance with justice Tuttle's decree, prevented them from so doing by an attachment writ.

The case will have to be fought all over again, as neither side will give up How a man can purchase, pay and get a receipt for certain goods and then have to fight for possession of them through court is a conundrum, as before stated, as hard to solve as the prison cell puzzle

THE STAGE.

THE NEW MARKET —Mr Lewis Morrison and his excellent company returns to the New Market on Friday evening for a season of three nights and Saturday matinee On Friday evening and at the matinee Saturday he will present "Won at Last," a play by Steve Mackaye, the author of "Hazel Kirke," and on Saturday evening a farewell performance of "Faust" will be given The great success of this play during Mr Morrison's recent visit warrants a packed house next Saturday evening. The sale of seats will commence at Prentice's on Wednesday

COMING ATTRACTIONS —Commencing May 30, we are to have M'lle Rhea, the great French actress, at the New Market for one week in emotional drama and comedy Says the Montreal Herald "The performance was a magnificent one, in every respect worthy of the genius of so grand an artiste as M'lle Rhea. Since poor Neilson spoke the words, 'Tarry a little I will come again,' we have waited for one to fill her place On M'lle Rhea the mantle of Neilson must rest. None of her compeers, so far as we have seen, approach her in so true a conception of the role Mr John Ryder, her teacher, may well feel proud, for he it is who trained up the two greatest 'Juliets' of this century. Neilson is dead, Rhea lives to keep green her memory M'lle Rhea last night bore so striking a resemblance to Neilson that we almost imagined the dead actress had come back to this world again " For a week, commencing June 6, we are to have Frederick Warde, the tragedian, and the following week Baird's minstrels. As usual, it is feast or a famine.

It was stated that Judge Bellinger had said that McAyeal was a de facto member of the council, and that all matters voted on by him was legal and binding up to the present time, but future acts, after it was shown that McAyeal is not a legal member of the council, would not be valid City attorney seemed to think McAyeal is a legal member of the council. ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

Mention was made a few days ago that a man had been shot at near Pleasant Home. The man shot at was Mr. Mibar, and his son, who was in the city yesterday, gave most of the particulars. Mr Mibar was but a short distance from the house chopping wood, and while so doing a shot was fired and a bullet went within about half an inch of his head He glanced up and saw where the shot came from, and also saw a man with a rifle in his hand Two of Mr Mibar's sons and several men attempted to surround and capture the man, but failed to do so Strong suspicion rests upon a certain individual, and the evidence, though circumstantial, seems very strong. Mr Mibar has had a dispute with this same party about some land and the dispute has been very bitter. The young man who was in the city yesterday, stated that a warrant had been issued for the arrest of the party upon whom the suspicion rests So the matter will then come before the court.

CENTRALIA MATTERS

CENTRALIA, May 16

Another accident happened at the shingle mill here last Saturday One of the saws burst and flew into many pieces, and miraculously missed hitting any of the hands, who were all busy at the time This has caused a temporary stoppage in the mill

Business is reviving, and the general stagnation in trade seems about at an end During the past winter there have been a good many vacant houses now these are mostly all occupied Strangers are coming in very rapidly many of them are well pleased with this section of the territory, and are taking up land and building good comfortable houses.

This is a pushing little town, and is not a great way behind the present age good sidewalks are being laid all through the town, and several new streets are being laid open near the public square We have a good race track a half mile from Centralia. All we need is some one with means at his command to come in and open it up We can also boast of a brass band which can not be equaled in Lewis county All our hotels are full The "Centralia" is the favorite resort of the local traveling public we can not and need not speak too highly of it those who once seek a rest under its friendly roof will always return.

GLASS MANUFACTURE

The recent advance in freight on importations of all kinds naturally gives rise to the question of home manufacture And the earlier we are compelled to adjust ourselves to these circumstances and provide for the home consumption and then for exportation, the earlier will the city enter upon a line of prosperity which can now only be comprehended by persons who have experienced like developments elsewhere The question now before us pertains to the manufacture of certain varieties of glassware, which can be made equally as good and as cheaply here in the city of Portland as is done in Chicago and many small towns in the eastern states. But glass cannot be manufactured without sand, and of a quality peculiarly adapted to this work The object, therefore, of this article is at present one of inquiry, and is addressed to every reader of THE OREGONIAN who knows something about sand suitable for the manufacture of glass and which can be obtained within 100 miles of Portland Communication and samples may be addressed to W T Shanahan, 63 Morrison street, Portland, Oregon,

PECULIAR CHARGE OF TRESPASS.

Justice Bushwiler was engaged all of yesterday afternoon in hearing the case of A Graf, charged by Hans Hanson with trespass Both of the parties live at Rooster Rock, Graf for the last seven or eight years and Hanson but for a year past Graf has 160 acres of land, and when he took it up he built a fence around it. Hanson a year ago bought forty acres adjoining Graf's place, and recently he claimed Graf's fence was on his land, and to determine whether it was or not had the county surveyor survey the line between the two properties, when it was decided that Graf's fence was two feet on Hanson's land Graf then moved the fence more than three feet over the line on to his own land

Hanson claims Graf trespassed on his (Hanson's) land by going on it to take down the fence, and for this caused his arrest. Justice Bushwiler, after hearing the evidence acquitted Graf About a dozen or more witnesses were brought down from Rooster Rock, which will cost the county $150 or more

The court smiled, being cognizant of the fact that it was only a week. Sam tumbled to the smile, although he has been several years trying to tumble to many of them.

DAUNTLESS DARING.

A Slight Circumstance which Led to a Great Discovery

[Compiled from Hubert Howe Bancroft's History of the Northwest Coast]

Into Athabasca lake the Peace river flows from the far west, and near its mouth another stream starts from the lake on its northwest course Here the great Northwest Company established its fur trading fort, and these two, unexplored streams constantly prompted questionings in the minds of the intelligent traders. Where was the source of the Peace river, and where emptied the stream that flowed away to the north? 'Twas this silent influence that caused the first exploration of our continent to the Pacific north of California.

Alexander McKenzie was stationed at this post and his vigorous mind and enterprising spirit prompted him to these explorations which solved these riddles and led to those discoveries which made him famous But he entered upon the hazardous enterprise without precipitation, and first prepared himself for the role that he had set for himself to play Accordingly he went to London and spent some time there in studying astronomy and navigation, that he might properly record his observations wherever he should go

At length at the beginning of summer, he started from the fort in a frail birch bark canoe, with a crew of four Canadians, of whom two had their wives, and accompanied by a German. An Indian chief, with his family and followers went also in two smaller canoes to act as hunters and interpreters Trapping beaver, shooting wild fowl and reindeer and catching fish as they went, they paddled down Slave river until they reached Slave lake, and then entered the stream that takes its name from this explorer. As he easily passed down Mackenzie river he expected at every moment to find it bend to the west and carry him to the Pacific ocean The natives indulged in a variety of tales more or less absurd concerning lakes and rivers toward the setting sun He was not a little surprised, therefore, to find himself, when he reached the river's mouth in the icy regions of the farthest north and under the starless summer sky and never setting sun of the Arctic ocean, instead of on the shores of the more genial Pacific. After spending a little time paddling among the icebergs and chasing whales, he returned south and reached the fort again after an absence of 102 days, regarding his expedition as somewhat of a failure instead of the valuable success that it really was

Three years after his northern trip he again made preparations to set out in search of a route to the Pacific, and this time he decided to ascend the current that flowed near his door Leaving the fort in the fall, he pushed on to the extreme westward post of the fur company, at the base of the Rocky mountains, so that by wintering there he would be ready for a good start next spring As the winter deepened the cold became intense Mackenzie was at length housed in a comfortable log cabin, and a block of five more was soon completed for his men Many among the natives who were sick or maimed, and some among his own men, came to him for medical treatment, and, although he was not a surgeon, he did not decline the responsibility, but gathered such remedies as he happened to be familiar with and applied them

The river was no sooner free from ice than he wrote up his accounts, dispatched six fur-laden canoes back to his starting point, and prepared to embark at once on his journey of discovery Early in May he pushed off and started into the westward wilderness, which never before had seen a white man's face Before him spread primeval nature, unmarked by the hand of civilization Terraces arose on the west, with bold, precipitous edges, yet level on top while to the eastward rolled away high hills, clothed in spruce and birch, and the stream was fringed with alder and willow Vast herds of elk fed quietly upon the uplands, and buffalo in countless numbers with their frisking young roamed upon the plains. The savage grizzly was quietly passed at a respectful distance

Navigation at first was easy, and though the current was swift, strong arms sent the quivering canoe rapidly up the stream Poles were used in driving it along more freely than paddles As they ascended cascades became frequent, driving the travelers into the woods to carry baggage and canoe to quieter waters above Sharp rocks cut into the sides of the boat, sunken trees pierced the bottom, and rapids opened the seams of the canoe, straining under its load At length the streams became entirely impassable, and canoe and everything that could not be carried were left behind. Mackenzie shouldered a pack of ninety pounds and still pushed westward, undaunted by the disasters which made his men anxious to turn back But at length the navigable waters of the Fraser were reached and the bold explorer finally reached the waters of the Pacific.

THE TANNER CREEK SEWER

PORTLAND May 16

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I see that the Tanner creek sewer is to be let Tuesday next that it is to leave Tanner creek at Tenth street, go north to I street, then east to Eighth street, then on to the Willamette river It is probably too late to say anything, but it does seem to me that proper care has not been exercised in the locating of this important work Much of the bed of this sewer lies in Couch's lake, where it is marshy and where it will be difficult to make the work stand without heavy embankment on the outside, as it will be largely above ground, besides much of it will be among sawdust and slabs but the worst feature about it is, it will not meet fully the demands for which it is intended It seems to me that the proper thing to do would be to leave the creek at North Eleventh, thence north to N and O, thence west to Thirteenth street, thence north and join the river at about V street. This would give solid ground for the sewer the entire distance, would take in all of the city to V street, and would pick up Johnson's creek and empty the whole of the sewage of this great district below all wharves The distance would not be more than six or seven hundred feet greater, which would amount to nothing when compared to the vastly greater number of people served By taxing all property west of it to the city limits and what is dependent on it on the east, the taxes would be very light. The people living to the north of M street and west of the sewer have a right to an outlet for their sewage, but they cannot reach the big sewer without going through this low, swampy ground and much farther The way it looks to me is that the council has made a blunder thus far Is it too late to change it and would it not be better
